Chapter 1—Mission

1.1. Definition of Mission.

The Arnold Air Society (AAS) has adopted as its mission three interrelated objectives, which enhance the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFROTC) and United States Air Force Academy (USAFA) commissioning programs and project the USAF image on campus and in the community.

1.2. Objectives and Functions.

1.2.1. First:

1.2.1.1. Objective: create a more efficient relationship among Air Force officer candidates, in particular within the AFROTC.

1.2.1.2. Function: provides opportunities for greater interaction among collegiate level Air Force officer candidates and encourages increased communication with Air Force officers and leaders in national defense, government, and industry.

1.2.2. Second:

1.2.2.1. Objective: aid in the development of effective Air Force officers.

1.2.2.2. Function: provides expanded opportunities for Air Force officer candidates to exercise leadership, management, organizational, and public relations skills.

1.2.3. Third:

1.2.3.1. Objective: further the purpose, traditions, and concepts of the United States Air Force.

1.2.3.2. Function: provides opportunities for officer candidates to participate in campus and community service activities, demonstrating the close relationship between civilian and military institutions.

1.3. Type of Organization. By the nature of the functions stated in AASMAN-1, para 1.2, the Society is primarily a professional, honorary service organization advocating the support of aerospace power.

1.3.1. Professional. AAS is “professional” because of the established intent of its members to become officers in the USAF. AAS strives to instill an attitude of unselfish dedication to and responsibility for fulfillment of the mission of the USAF, AFROTC, and AAS.

1.3.2. Honorary. AAS is “honorary” because of the high standards required of all cadets admitted to membership.

1.3.3. Service. AAS is a “service” organization because of the contributions and assistance provided to the community, campus, and officer commissioning programs.

1.4. Vision Statement. “Develop proactive leaders, Remain loyal to the ideals of the Arnold Air Society; Foster a synergistic society through selfless service of our dedicated members.”
Chapter 2—Membership

Section 2A—Scope, Classes, and Induction of Membership

2.1. Scope and Classes of Membership. AAS is an organization comprised of cadets in the USAF officer candidate education and training programs at the USAFA and other university-level institutions throughout the United States. Four classes of membership exist: active, inactive, associate, and honorary.

2.2. Active Membership.

2.2.1. Requirements. Maintaining membership is vital to the success of a squadron. Recruiting prospective members into AAS is the responsibility of all squadron members who must encourage all cadets to join AAS and non-cadets to become cadets. Squadrons should distribute a recruiting letter to all prospective members inviting them to attend squadron activities and learn what AAS is and what to expect as a candidate. All corps members in good standing with the USAFA or AFROTC are eligible for AAS membership.

2.2.2. Recruitment.

2.2.2.1. Events. Recruiting is the primary step in having a successful training period. Using fun and motivating events is the key to getting qualified cadets interested.

2.2.2.2. Candidates. Squadrons must recruit candidates in accordance with paragraphs 2.2.1 and 2.2.3. POC cadets are required to go through the candidate class in the same fashion as GMC cadets, with no exceptions.

2.2.2.3. Methods. Time-proven methods for attracting high-quality individuals include:

- 2.2.2.3.1. Make a squadron video to encourage cadets to join AAS.
- 2.2.2.3.2. Run a phone-a-thon and call prospective cadets.
- 2.2.2.3.3. Send or post flyers for prospective cadets.
- 2.2.2.3.4. Have peers handle the recruiting of candidates in the same academic major.
- 2.2.2.3.5. Increase parental involvement, possibly by inviting parents to AAS socials during the school’s “Parents Weekend.”
- 2.2.2.3.6. Host squadron socials, inviting potential members to activities like barbecues, pizza parties, or ice cream socials.

2.2.2.4. Problems to Avoid. Units must avoid some activities during recruiting:

- 2.2.2.4.1. AAS cannot be advertised as a pre-LEAD experience with physical training, drilling, and verbal abuse (see para 2.13).
- 2.2.2.4.2. Be sure to be honest to candidates about the training they are going to get by showing enthusiasm and a positive attitude.
2.2.3. Selection. Squadrons may enact membership selection criteria at their discretion as long as the policies comply with the following regulations and the candidacy program outlined in para 2.11.

2.2.3.1. Sex, race, creed, sexual orientation, or national origin may not be included in the determining factors.

2.2.3.2. Membership may not be denied to an active member transferring from another squadron.

2.2.3.3. No standards above those of the detachment may be imposed on a candidate of Arnold Air Society.

2.2.4. Duration of Active Membership. Once initiated into the Society, individuals may renew active membership with full privileges until commissioning, so long as they remain members in good standing. No member of AAS disenrolled from AFROTC or the USAFA may be a member of the Society, unless they are reinstated in one of the programs.

2.2.5. Good Standing and Membership Fees. To achieve individual good standing in AAS, the member must have paid all applicable AAS dues as set annually by EMC (See para 0) and be under no form of disciplinary action. The Squadron must be an active squadron for its members to be considered in good standing (See AASMAN-1 para 13.2). Members on an authorized leave of absence from or other form of authorized delay in their commissioning program may retain AAS membership by paying dues within a 30-day period of their return. Members on a leave of absence may continue to pay their AFA dues to maintain their AFA membership.

2.2.6. Probation. Any active member of the AAS who is placed on academic probation by the university, USAFA or AFROTC detachment, must restrict his or her AAS activities to those jointly approved by the AAS unit commander, Professor of Aerospace Studies (PAS), and Operations Flight Commander (OFC).

2.2.7. Dismissal. Any member who is not fulfilling his or her obligation to the squadron, as determined by the squadron By-Laws may be dismissed from active membership and will be informed by the squadron commander that he or she can no longer wear any AAS insignia. Notify area HQ and the Executive Management Center of this action within 10 days of the dismissal. Send a copy of the notification to the Cadet Wing, if applicable. Notification must include a description of the grounds for dismissal.

2.2.8. Eligibility for Office. With the exception of Executive Management Center positions, all official AAS staff positions must be filled by active members of the Society. Any member of the AAS who has been judged guilty due to impeachment proceedings (see AASMAN-1, para 4.7) or has been dismissed from an office within the Society must be denied the privilege of holding office again.

2.2.9. Grade of Active Members. AAS members begin their AAS membership as AAS Cadet/Second Lieutenants. Increases in grade are authorized based on positions held.
Members retain the grade of the highest position held after completing one full term of office in that job or leaving the post under honorable circumstances. A “full term” and “honorable circumstances” are determined by the unit or command level involved. AAS grade is not contingent upon and does not correlate with AFROTC or USAFA grade. One’s AAS grade is referred to as “cadet colonel, AAS”, etc. Shoulder boards may not be worn to denote AAS grade.

2.2.10. Special Extension of Membership. Any active member who is commissioned between 1 January and the date of the National Conclave (NATCON) may retain his or her full authority and responsibility until the conclusion of the NATCON, if the member so desires. Approval of additional individual retention of active membership for limited periods after commissioning for completing Society projects is at the discretion of the National Commander. No person whose membership is extended by the National Commander may hold any office other than project officer.

2.2.11. Benefits of Membership (AFA). Each active member of AAS in good standing is a cadet member of the Air Force Association and receives a one-year subscription to Air Force Magazine, the official magazine of the AFA, with each year’s active membership. Air Force Magazine is sent to the address listed on the National Website. Members who change their address during the term of their subscription must update their profile on the National Website.

2.3. Other Membership Classes.

2.3.1. Inactive. Active members may become inactive according to the provisions of the squadron By-Laws. Inactive members must continue to pay AAS national dues in order to retain the right to regain active membership. An inactive member who fails to pay AAS national dues is no longer a member of the Society and must pay a reinstatement fee to regain active membership. The Executive Director may grant exceptions to the reinstatement fee in extenuating circumstances, yet at a minimum a member wishing to return to active status must pay a processing fee equal to the current initiation fee. Inactive members who wish to retain their AFA cadet membership must continue to pay AAS national dues and AFA dues. Inactive members are not entitled to wear the AAS fourragere or rank pin, but may wear the AAS Membership Ribbon.

2.3.2. Associate. Members of Silver Wings (SW) become associate members of AAS upon payment of national SW dues.

2.3.3. Honorary. Honorary membership is a life award. In a squadron, such honor may be conferred only by unanimous approval of active members of the squadron. In an Area it may be conferred only by unanimous approval of the Area HQ staff or the Squadrons in the area. Honorary membership at the National Level is not allowed, but the host squadron may adopt the honorary member. Honorary members are allowed to participate in all functions of the Society at the discretion of the unit commander, but are ineligible to vote. Former members of AAS who are dis-enrolled from AFROTC or USAFA under honorable circumstances are considered eligible for membership in the Joint Alumni Association. They maintain eligibility for honorary membership but must have an impact on the squadron that seeks to nominate them. The title of “honorary” should have impact and meaning, for example, an alumni sponsors several students to attend NATCON or a community leader donates a significant amount of time or resources to a squadron. The rationale and reasoning must accompany the nomination submitted to the National Headquarters. Former members of AAS who left the Society, AFROTC, or USAFA under other than honorable circumstances are ineligible for alumni of honorary recognition. See also AASMAN-1, paras 2.2.3 and 2.2.4.

2.4. Transfer of Membership. An active or inactive member of any AAS squadron may transfer their membership to another unit with the benefits of their status, provided he or she is a member in good standing at the losing unit. The gaining unit must immediately notify the Executive Management Center upon completion of the transfer; the Executive Management Center will verify the status of the transferee. See also AASMAN-1, para 2.25.

Section 2B—Candidate Training Program

2.5. Introduction. The mandatory candidate training program must be conducted at least once per academic year and last between six and eleven weeks and must contain at least a twelve hour curriculum. No training will occur during periods when the host school is on an academic break, such as during the winter holiday season. The following sections cover general requirements and restrictions each squadron needs to incorporate into its program, as well as a section on suggested recruiting and candidate training program ideas.

2.6. Training Focus. Candidate training programs may not resemble a pre-LEAD preparation program but should reflect the professional nature of our Society and what the Society represents.

2.7. Goals. The training program must accomplish the following:

   2.7.1. Familiarize candidates with the mission, history, organization, and activities of AAS.

   2.7.2. Educate candidates about the affiliated organizations (e.g., SW, AFA, CAP)

   2.7.3. Instill in the candidates a greater interest in the community, squadron, cadet wing, university, and USAF.

   2.7.4. Acquaint and prepare the candidates for leadership roles within AAS through emphasis on officer development, community service, and AFROTC standards.

2.8. Hazing Policy. Hazing or degradation of any person is specifically prohibited during the entire candidate training program and all initiation activities. The candidates may not be hazed physically or mentally at any time or in any way, as defined by the official USAF policy on hazing. Information on hazing can be found in Attachment 6— and must be given to each candidate before beginning a training program. Squadrons are responsible for monitoring their training staff. When considering the question of hazing, apply these questions to all aspects of a unit’s candidate training program.

   2.8.1. How would it look on the evening news?

   2.8.2. Is it against university regulations or state law?

   2.8.3. Does it do any harm, mental or physical?

   2.8.4. Does it compromise the dignity of the candidate?
2.8.5. Is it keeping good men and women from joining the Society?

2.8.6. Is it causing good candidates to drop out of the program?

2.9. Training Staff. The squadron training staff is selected per the unit’s By-Laws.

2.10. Standards. Training programs must adhere to the completion requirements and training limitations listed in this section. No additional standards above the standard imposed on all cadets at a detachment or the USAFA may be applied to a candidate class. This includes, but is not limited to, higher PFT scores, grade point average, lower aerobics run times, or higher drill proficiency.

2.11. Completion Requirements. All of the following requirements must be completed by every candidate in order to become an active AAS member.

2.11.1. Physical and Academic Standards. All candidates must meet the minimum physical and academic standards of the local detachment or USAFA.

2.11.2. Attendance. Candidates must attend at least 90 percent of all candidate activities as designated by the squadron candidate training officer.

2.11.3. Mandatory Briefings. Candidates will be given mandatory informational briefings on the following: History of AAS and Silver Wings, AFA, NATCON, ARCON, JNP, Running for Higher HQ’s, and Squadron Leadership.

2.11.4. Projects. The candidate class must complete at least one service project that benefits the cadet wing, campus, or community. Fund-raising projects do not fulfill this requirement. Candidate classes may complete no more than three service projects during their entire training program.

2.11.4.1. Active Member Signatures. Candidates must obtain the signatures of all active squadron members. At the discretion of the squadron commander units may allow candidates to obtain less than 100 percent of these signatures. Example signature tasks are questions from the National Test, research on Squadron / Area / National history, or team-building exercises.

2.11.5. National Testing. Candidates must pass the National Test with a score of at least 80 percent. If a candidate fails the exam, he or she has the option of retaking the exam only once and must wait a minimum of one week from the first test date before being allowed to re-test. If a candidate fails the test a second time, he or she must repeat the candidate program before being allowed to test again.

2.11.6. Joint Relations Workshop. Candidate Classes will have a one-day mandatory Silver Wings informational workshop to educate the candidates about the operations of Silver Wings.

2.11.7. AAS Oath. The use of the AAS Oath is mandatory for the initiation of members. The Oath is included in the suggested initiation ceremony in attachment 2 para A2.3.1.

2.12. Training Limitations. The following items are the restrictions that all candidate training programs must follow. This section includes time limitations and maximums a candidate class may be directed to accomplish during a candidate training period.
2.13. LEAD Preparation Prohibition. Candidate training programs may not be used to teach specific LEAD skills such as bed making, folding clothes, etc. However, these programs may include a heightened stress environment with the raising of voices as long as they follow the hazing policy that is strictly stated as the guidelines for candidate training programs in the para 2.8.

2.14. Hours. Candidates may meet no more than four hours per week, excluding service projects and Extended Training Exercises. Training may not be conducted between the hours of 2400 and 0500. The Area Commander must approve any exceptions to this.

   2.14.1. Extended Training Exercises. Candidates may participate in up to eight hours of Extended Training Exercises. The training staff must provide a specific outline of the Extended Training Exercise to both the Arnold Air Society Squadron Advisor and their Area Director of Training. Both the Squadron Advisor and Area Director of Training must approve this plan two weeks in advance of the planned date. After the Extended Training Exercise is over, the Squadron CTO must submit an After Action Report to the Area Director of Training who will then review the report and forward it to the National Director of Training.

   2.14.2. Extended Training Exercises Limitation.

   2.14.2.1. Time. Extended Training Exercise training time must be separate from the weekly four hours of training.

   2.14.2.2. Physical Training. A maximum of three non-consecutive hours of the allotted eight hours may be designated for Physical Training.

   2.14.2.3. Overnight Events. If the exercise is planned to run overnight candidates must receive seven unabated hours of sleep, the same amount given to cadets at AFROTC LEAD. Hours of sleep do not count against the eight hours of training time.

2.15. Physical Training. The following section outlines restrictions on AAS physical training.

   2.15.1. Candidates, Active Members, and Physical Training. No more than one hour of the four hours candidates can meet per week may be used as physical training unless given permission by the squadron advisor and notice be given to the Area Director of Training. At a physical training event, either 50 percent of the squadron’s active members or one member per candidate must participate in the physical training along with the candidates. Whatever a candidate is required to do, the squadron’s active members at the event must do the same thing. These activities may take the form of runs, sports, or any other physical activity, as long as the active members participate.

   2.15.2. Regulations. Training staff must make a conscious effort to comply with the intent of AFROTCMAN, 36-201. Squadrons should ensure that active members and candidates have current certified sports-physicals prior to participation in physical training.

2.16. Drill. No more than one of the four hours candidates can meet per week may be used to practice drill proficiency unless given permission by the squadron advisor and notice be given to the Area Director of Training.
2.17. Candidate Dues. Units may not charge any form of candidate dues to be paid by prospective members. It is permissible to levy a fee on candidates to recoup the cost of any materials provided by the unit that the candidates will retain once they become active members.

2.18. Service Projects.

2.18.1. Recommendations. Having good service projects is an excellent way to decrease the attrition rate in the candidate class. The number of projects is not as important as the quality. Letting the candidates organize and actually implement the projects is a good way for them to work on their leadership skills. A good idea is to have the candidate class possibly join in with the squadron on a community service project. Have the candidate class organize the project and ask the squadron’s active members to join in. This serves as a good ice-breaker for the candidates and allows them to get a taste of active member life.

2.18.2. Examples. Some suggested projects and activities for the candidates may include:

- 2.18.2.1. “Class Jeopardy” where teams are selected and candidates can be asked questions related to the National Test.
- 2.18.2.2. The candidates can fundraise to cut down on the expense of joining AAS. Some ways to raise money include a shoe-shining night, dry-cleaning service for the cadet wing, or working concessions for college sporting events.
- 2.18.2.3. Team building exercises such as a scavenger hunt around the campus for AAS trivia questions and facts can build a strong candidate class.
- 2.18.2.4. Plan the cadet wing dining-out or dining-in.
- 2.18.2.5. Host a cadet wing sports contest and barbecue.
- 2.18.2.6. Volunteer at local elementary schools to put on presentations (e.g. flag awareness, saying “no” to drugs, environmental issues).
- 2.18.2.7. Participate in road-side clean-up events.
- 2.18.2.8. Go to local high schools and helping recruit future AFROTC or USAFA Cadets.
- 2.18.2.9. Serve meals to the hungry at local soup kitchens.
- 2.18.2.10. Sponsor blood drives on the campus.

2.19. Academic Performance. In order to be eligible for active membership, a candidate must maintain good grades (see paragraph 2.8). To assist candidates, Squadrons may elect to establish a “Big Brother/Big Sister” from the active squadron membership for each candidate. These active members can provide academic and personal support during the candidate period.

2.20. Conclaves. Take the time to educate candidates on these important events in the Society from the start of the program. These are very positive and fun activities, and candidates are eligible to attend. It is recommended to include a conclave section in the squadron candidate training manual.

2.21. History. Candidates should also be well versed in information concerning the Society’s namesake, General of the Air Force Henry “Hap” Arnold, how and where the AAS was started, how Angel Flight-Silver Wings began, and the history of your squadron’s namesake. These are important historical perspectives each active member should know upon entering AAS.

2.22. Squadron Duties. From the start of the candidate training program, inform candidates on the different staff positions they may hold when they become members. Discuss the different responsibilities of each position and have the current squadron officers visit with the class to discuss their squadron duties.

Section 2C—Membership Reporting and Accounting

2.23. Membership Roster.

2.23.1. Report Submission. The membership roster (Google Drive AASSWF1) is the official document for all member accountability.

2.23.2. Reporting Dates. Membership rosters must be submitted twice per year. In the fall the reporting dates are in early November for renewals and 1 Dec for initiates. In the Spring the reporting dates are early April for renewals and 1 May for initiates. This is to encompass both semesters’ initiations and changes in status. Squadrions that fail to report membership are considered inactive. See also AASMAN-1, para 13.2.

2.23.3. New Members. After initiation, candidates will create accounts on the National Website. As part of the account creation process, new members will be required to submit initiation payment. After all new members have paid their initiation fee and NLT three weeks after initiation, submit Google Drive AASSWF1 to the Executive Management Center. List all honorary, active, inactive, and initiate members. Current forms may be found on the National Website. Provide an additional copy to area HQ.

2.23.4. Honorary Members & Initiations. Units must report initiation of honorary members on Google Drive AASSWF1. There are no annual dues for honorary members, but a one-time fee must be remitted with the report to offset the cost of the certificate, packing, and postage. The fee is subject to annual adjustment and is posted on the current Google Drive AASSWF1. Units must also furnish new honorary members with fourrageres. See also AASMAN-1, para 15.22. Units may choose hold an initiation ceremony for honorary members per the unit’s By-Laws.

2.23.5. Inactive Members. All inactive members must be listed on the Google Drive AASSWF1. For information on Inactive membership, see para 2.3.1.

2.23.6. Additional Information. The Google Drive AASSWF1 must be typed. Take special care to spell all names correctly. Membership certificates are prepared from the form. If necessary, additional Google Drive AASSWF1s may be used to continue the list of initiates.

2.24. Membership Renewal. Membership fees establish membership for one year, starting on the calendar date on which dues are received. Dues are due on the anniversary of an individual’s date of initiation, when they created their account on the National Website.

2.25. Transfer Members. During a transfer of membership, both the gaining and losing Squadrons must submit another Google Drive AASSWF1 to reflect the new roster, complete with an attached memorandum detailing the transfer. EMC will adjust the members associated unit on the National Website.

2.26. Membership Records Retention. Area HQ will be responsible for maintaining accurate records of Squadron membership on their National Website fileshare. Any Google Drive AASSWF1s forwarded to the Area HQ must be archived. The EMC will retain the Membership Rosters for a minimum of four years.
Chapter 3—AAS Relationship With Other Organizations

3.1. Conflict With AFROTC/USAFA/Host Institution Procedures. Occasionally, higher HQ directives may conflict with AFROTC, USAFA, or host institution procedures. Unit commanders who encounter this situation will confer with the local PAS or his/her representative to resolve the problem. In cases where the conflict is not resolved, the AAS unit commander will advise the AAS HQ which issued the directive in question of the situation, withhold action on the orders, and await further instructions. Commanders will keep all intermediate HQs informed of any actions taken and provide copies of official policy letters or other pertinent material as necessary.

3.2. Cadet Corps Positions. AFROTC or AFCW positions held by a member of AAS do not relieve that person of his/her duties and responsibilities to the Society. An AAS squadron commander normally serves as a member of the AFROTC cadet corps commander’s personal staff. In this capacity, the AAS commander receives command guidance from the corps commander on matters pertinent to the corps and is subject to the corps commander’s authority in all corps training activities.

3.3. Advisors. AAS advisors are USAF personnel or others who act in an advisory capacity. The advisors are assigned through the cooperation of the USAF commissioning programs. No advisor or other USAF officer may act in a directive capacity over AAS activities. USAFA AAS advisors may act in the PAS or Unit advisor capacity, including but not limited to higher headquarters.

3.4. AFROTC/AAS Liaison Officer. The AFROTC Commander assigns a member of the HQ AFROTC staff to serve as the AFROTC/AAS Liaison Officer. The officer is a coordinator for USAF support of AAS. AAS will invite this officer to attend all meetings of the Board of Directors and National Conclaves in his/her capacity as liaison for AAS.

3.5. Air Force Association (AFA). AAS is formally affiliated with the AFA, a national, independent, non-profit aerospace power organization. Although the AAS-AFA affiliation is a close one, it is the stated policy of both organizations that each shall remain at all times an independent entity.

3.5.1. Terms of Affiliation. Under the AAS-AFA affiliation, the AFA provides services for the Executive Management Center. This includes reproduction, distribution assistance, and professional services available in the AFA and on the Air Force Magazine staff. The AAS National Commander is an ex-officio member of the AFA Board of Directors and the AFA Chairman of the Board is an ex-officio member of both the AAS/SW Board of Directors and the AAS/SW Board of Trustees. See also AASMAN-1, paras 5.5.1.3, 6.8, 7.1.1, and 14.16.1.

3.5.2. Cadet Membership in AFA. See para 2.2.11.

3.5.3. Contact with Local AFA Chapters. The AAS-AFA affiliation allows for working agreements to be established between local AAS and AFA units. The Society urges local AAS commanders to cooperate in all ways possible with the AFA and to invite AFA members to participate in the activities of the AAS. Local AFA officials can be contacted through links on the AAS-SW National Website. Unit management of this contact is delegated to vice/deputy commanders.

3.6. Silver Wings. Silver Wings is a national, co-ed, professional organization dedicated to creating proactive, knowledgeable, and effective civic leaders through community service and education about national defense. The nature of its objectives leads to the support of the mission of AAS. Members of SW become associate members of AAS upon payment of national SW dues. AAS unit commanders are urged to cooperate fully with SW and support SW missions. Members of AAS cannot be active members of Silver Wings. AASMAN-1, Chapter 17, contains information on SW. See also SWM.

3.6.1. AAS/SW Affiliation Policy. With the exception of SW associate membership privileges, it is the policy of AAS to consider SW a separate organization and to impose no national requirements upon SW, unless jointly agreed upon by the Boards of Directors or the National Conclaves of the AAS and SW. SW units have the discretion of including AAS in SW operations.

3.6.2. SW Formation. Local AAS commanders should assist in the formation of a SW chapter on their campus if none exists. The formation of SW chapters has been demonstrated to be of considerable aid to AAS in fulfillment of its mission and enhances the AFROTC image on campus and in the community.

3.6.3. Information. Further information on SW may be obtained through the Executive Management Center or SW National HQ.

3.7. Financial Assistance through Affiliation with Outside Organizations. Other than strictly charitable donations, affiliations involving financial assistance to an AAS unit from an outside agency (except the host educational institution) may be accepted only by the Executive Director, subject to the approval of the Board of Directors. See also AASMAN-1, para 7.12.

3.8. Affiliation with Student Body Organizations. AAS units are authorized to affiliate with the student governments of their schools when such affiliation is required or advisable for the effective fulfillment of the mission. Other formal affiliations not covered herein require the approval of the immediate higher AAS HQ. The approving authority must supply AAS National HQ with an information copy of any correspondence documenting approval of the affiliation.

3.9. Additional Liaison Relationships. The AAS policies regarding other organizations and programs that support aerospace power or contribute to aerospace education are shown below.

3.9.1. Civil Air Patrol (CAP). CAP is the official civilian auxiliary of the USAF. The AAS and CAP signed a memorandum of understanding that will renew every three years unless terminated by either party, effective 15 September 2014.

3.9.1.1. Sanctioned Activities. The agreement states that AAS and CAP are encouraged to cooperate in activities related to the following:

- 3.9.1.1.1. The honoring of the USA and USAF.
- 3.9.1.1.2. Community service volunteering.
- 3.9.1.1.3. Drill and Ceremonies Training.
- 3.9.1.1.4. Academic Tutoring.
- 3.9.1.1.5. Aerospace education activities.

3.9.1.2. Limitations. In no circumstances are AAS members allowed to participate in a trainer role. Interactions with CAP are to be instructional in nature. Two (2) Senior Members of CAP must attend each officially sanctioned joint event. A safety briefing must also be given prior to starting any joint activity.
3.9.2. Air Force Junior ROTC (AFJROTC). AAS recognizes the potential developed by the AFJROTC program at schools across the nation. The number of detachments is established by law for each state according to population and the desire of host schools. Support of this program is encouraged since members of this program are potential members of the AFROTC, USAFA, and AAS. AAS and AFJROTC have established a memorandum of understanding that is binding for five (5) years and renews every three (3) years unless terminated by either party, effective 26 September 2014.

3.9.2.1. Sanctioned Activities. The agreement states that AAS and AFJROTC are encouraged to cooperate in activities related to the following:

- 3.9.2.1.1. The honoring of the USA and USAF.
- 3.9.2.1.2. Community service volunteering.
- 3.9.2.1.3. Drill and Ceremonies Training.
- 3.9.2.1.4. Academic Tutoring.
- 3.9.2.1.5. Aerospace education activities.

3.9.2.2. Limitations. In no circumstances are AAS members allowed to participate in activities that are solely supporting the AFJROTC mission. AAS members are not allowed to participate in a trainer role. Interactions with AFJROTC are to be instructional in nature. One (1) cadre member of AFJROTC must attend each officially sanctioned joint event. A safety briefing must also be given prior to starting any joint activity.

3.9.3. Explorers. AAS units are encouraged to cooperate with or sponsor Explorer Posts of the Boy Scouts of America. AAS units are particularly encouraged to sponsor Explorer Posts specializing in aerospace subjects.

3.9.4. Civil Defense. AAS units should cooperate with units of the Civil Defense program since this activity is one way to increase knowledge of national security.

3.9.5. POW/MIA Awareness. The Society will support the efforts of recognized organizations that have the goal of honoring the sacrifices made by American prisoners of war (POW) and combatants who are missing in action (MIA). While POW/MIA projects are not mandatory and should in no instance take precedence over projects in support of the mandatory AAS/SW JNP.

3.9.6. Military Order of World Wars (MOWW). The Society acknowledges that the MOWW is an organization whose efforts reflect the dedication to serving those who serve well beyond their active duty years. The Military Order is a patriotic nonpartisan organization, which holds that it is “nobler to serve than to be served.” The Order provides an opportunity for Officers of all of the Federal Uniformed Services to unite in a strong program to promote National Security, Patriotism, Good Citizenship and Service to Country. AAS members/units are encouraged to interact and participate in MOWW events, and have members of the MOWW attend and participate in unit events.
3.9.7. Other Aerospace Organizations. This listing is not all-inclusive. All AAS units are encouraged to cooperate with other aerospace organizations of local or national scope.

3.10. Projects.

3.10.1. Joint National Project (JNP). The Society will primarily focus on the JNP each year and every AAS unit will endeavor to involve its affiliated SW unit and local AFA chapter in its JNP activities. Proposed themes for the JNP should be judged on the criteria shown below. The potential theme should:

3.10.1.1. Have national appeal.
3.10.1.2. Be broad enough so every unit can participate, regardless of size or location.
3.10.1.3. Be flexible enough so projects other than fund-raisers and informational campaigns can be planned.
3.10.1.4. Be narrow enough so a distinct need is met.
3.10.1.5. Not have been elected by the general assembly more than twice in the past five years.

3.10.2. Joint National Fundraising Project (NFP). AAS/SW will conduct a NFP every two years with the Air Force Aid Society beginning in academic year 2017-2018. The NFP will be voted on by the NATCON General Assembly.

3.10.3. Other Projects. Area and squadron resources surplus to the JNP should be directed toward the regional and community concerns determined by each unit. All area-level projects are specifically prohibited (with the exception of area-level projects that support the JNP).

3.11. General Rules for Hours.

3.11.1. Members. Hours only count for active Arnold Air Society members. If a service project is done in conjunction with ROTC members or with Silver Wings, the only hours counted are those completed by actual AAS members. Hours for planning a project must not be counted towards the project. Only hours spent actually performing the project are to be recorded.

3.11.2. Double Counting. AAS members must not use AAS hours for warrior or honor flights within the corps. If AAS members must complete community service hours for an outside organization, they must not claim the hours as community service hours and AAS hours. Squadrons must also report each category individually – one man-hour is one hour in one category exclusively.

3.11.3. Categorization. The squadron operations officer will determine the proper category. If a squadron operations officer cannot resolve a classification issue it will be sent to the Area Director of Operations. If the Area Director of Operations cannot resolve a classification issue it will be directed to the National Director of Operations. The National Director of Operations will make the final decision.
3.11.4. Counting. Each hour of service done by individual members counts as one hour and should be recorded as such. All hours should be rounded to the nearest half-hour with the rule that any time after 15 minutes counts as at least one half-hour.

3.12. Hours Categorization

3.12.2. Joint National Project Hours. Joint National Project (JNP) hours are the primary focus of our organization and as such this category includes any service or fundraising hours that are collected in support of the JNP. These hours will only be claimed under JNP and should not be claimed again under any other category.

3.12.3. Inter-ROTC/USAFA Hours. Inter-ROTC/USAFA hours are those done in support of the local ROTC detachment or the USAFA sponsored by the AAS squadron. Examples of Inter-ROTC/USAFA events are holding tutoring sessions or shining shoes for cadets in the corps. This category is a type of service, but is recorded separately to monitor how much AAS is supporting the local detachment. Joint activities planned by AAS and involving the local detachment are encouraged, but the only hours reported should be those performed by AAS active members.

3.12.4. Service Hours. Service hours are all hours of service done to assist outside organizations including the host school and the local community. The AAS squadron should not be paid for any service. Free food or giveaways from the event do not count as payment. POW/MIA ceremonies and tributes have long been part of the AAS tradition and are highly encouraged. POW/MIA hours will be counted as service hours.

3.12.5. Fundraising Hours. Fundraising hours are any hours that are directed toward raising money for the local AAS squadron. If hours are put toward helping another organization raise money or raising money for people outside the local AAS squadron, these hours should not be counted as fundraising, but as service.

3.12.6. Professional Development Hours. Professional Development hours will be calculated by the squadron operations officers as well as the Area Directors of Operations. These hours are events or projects that will help in the professional development of the AAS members. Examples of professional development hours include but are not limited to: attending lectures, practicing briefings together, or having a professional or military leader talk to the squadron about their experiences.

3.12.7. Social Hours. Social hours include events that boost squadron morale or squadron cohesion that do not fit in one of the previous categories. As a general rule, if it provides no benefit to the community, it likely falls under this category. These events must be open to all active AAS members and at least 50% of the active squadron members must be present at the activity in order for the event to be counted.

3.12.8. Science Technology Engineering and Math Hours. Service to the community is an integral part of Arnold Air Society. American youth are part of a declining educational system, particularly in the subjects of Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics. The adoption of STEM hours will allow us as a society to track the progress we are making in STEM without committing it to a Joint National Project.
STEM can involve, but is not limited to, volunteering in youth programs, after school interactive programs, and activities that promote the education and interest of the STEM subjects. STEM hours are crucial to the future of our Air Force and our Nation.
Chapter 4—Organization Structure and General Policy

4.1. Concept. In keeping with its function as an extra-curricular leadership program, AAS is organized with a strong foundation in military order and discipline.

4.2. Structure. The basic structure of the Society is prescribed by the AAS Constitution (see AASMAN-1, Attachment 1). There are three major command levels of AAS: National, Area, and Squadron. The AAS chain of command is depicted in AASMAN-1, Figure 4-1 Arnold Air and Silver Wings Organizational Chart. These bodies determine policy and regulations to govern the units and members under their jurisdiction. Measures passed by legislative bodies must be in accordance with the spirit and guidance of the National Constitution. All legislative bodies of lesser jurisdiction than the NATCON are subject to the bylaws of their unit and the legislation and policy of higher legislative bodies. Any legislative body may delegate authority.

As such, AAS is prepared to distribute Manual changes of a more urgent nature when agreed to by the National Commander, Executive Director, and NAC/MC. The NAC/MC is the OPR for these changes.
Chapter 7—Board of Directors

7.1. Description. The AAS Board of Directors is composed of the Area Commanders and the National Commander who serves as chairperson. The Board customarily meets twice a year: in Washington DC each fall in conjunction with the AFA National Convention and each spring at NATCON.

7.1.1. Members. The Area Commanders serve as the voting members of the Board. The National Commander may vote only in the case of a tie. In joint session with Silver Wings, the National Commander’s tie-breaking vote is only applicable to a vote in the AAS portion of the Board. The non-voting members are: the National Staff members, the National Business Chair, the National Parliamentarian, the NATCON HQ Commander, the SW National President, the Executive Director, the National Advisor, the AFROTC-AAS liaison officer, the chairpersons of the national standing committees, the National Webmaster, the National Chief of Protocol, the JAA President, the National Administrative Consultants, the Chairman of the Board of AFA, and all former AAS National Commanders.

7.1.2. Other Attendees. Members of the NATCON HQ staff, other AAS officers, and interested parties may attend meetings of the Board when necessary.

7.2. Meetings. In addition to the fall and spring meetings of the Board, the National Commander may call for a meeting of the Board whenever a situation requires Board action. Due to school schedules and economic considerations, this is not usually feasible. Therefore, the Board handles most business during regularly scheduled sessions.

7.2.1. Presiding Officer. The National Commander may chair the business sessions or appoint a presiding officer, such as the National Business Chair, for meetings of the Board.

7.2.2. Closed Meetings. A closed meeting of the Board consists of the voting members of the Board, the Executive Director, the presiding officer, and any other persons the Board wishes present. A closed meeting may be called any time by a majority vote of the Board.

7.2.3. Meetings of Incoming Board Members. Nominees for national and area positions and those members having already been elected but not sworn in may attend sessions of the Board held at NATCON, but do not have voice or vote. New voting members of the Board assume office at the end of the final business session of NATCON. Outgoing members of the Board may attend meetings of the new Board and act as advisors with no vote.

7.2.4. Proxy Votes. Areas not represented at Board meetings may provide a written delegation of their vote to another area. The area must give a copy of this proxy to the National Commander or National Business Chair. If a Board member holding a proxy must leave a business session, he may redelegate the proxy to another area, unless specifically prohibited by the area that issued the proxy. The area must also notify the National Commander or National Business Chair of these actions. Use the AAS Proxy Vote Form (AASSWF3) for this official communication.

7.3. Function and Authority. The primary function of the Board is organization and policy direction of the Society. The Board derives its authority from the AAS Constitution and NATCON assembly, interprets the Constitution, and cannot overrule either. The Board may enact legislation between NATCONs and decide on legislation that was not disposed of by the NATCON assembly. The Board may delegate specific authority to the National Commander or other officers, but decisions made by these members are subject to confirmation by the Board or NATCON assembly. See also AASMAN-1, para 5.5.1.1.

7.4. National Discipline. The power of the Board may be enforced through suspensions of officers and unit charters and the levying of fines. Units with suspended charters may appeal the suspension to the next NATCON, which may uphold or dismiss the suspension. Squadrons in an area whose HQ charter is suspended report directly to National HQ during the suspension period, unless otherwise directed. See also AASMAN-1, paras 5.5.1.6, 5.5.1.7, and 7.11.

7.5. Agendas. The National Commander prepares the agenda for meetings of the Board and sends the proposal to the Executive Director, who coordinates the AAS, SW and other proposed agenda inputs. The agendas are adapted to the full schedule of meeting events and coordinated with the AFA and other agencies.

7.5.1. Agenda Requests from Board Members. Any member of the Board may ask the National Commander to include items in the agenda warranting Board action. The National Commander must honor all such requests.

7.5.2. Agenda Requests from Non-Board Members. Any member of the Society may ask the National Commander to include items in the agenda warranting Board action. The National Commander may honor these requests at his or her discretion.

7.5.3. Agenda Changes. The National Commander may change the agenda at any time during the Board sessions, subject to the approval of the Board, if necessary. Agenda items need not be considered in any fixed order unless deemed appropriate by the Board or National Commander.

7.5.4. Required Agenda Items:

7.5.4.1. An organizational analysis of the Society given by the Executive Director. See also AASMAN-1, para 6.5.1.

7.5.4.2. A cumulative financial report. See also AASMAN-1, para 14.12.

7.5.4.3. A meeting of the NATCON Budget Committee and a report from the NATCON HQ Commander. The report must include the proposed agenda and a budget that has been reviewed by the NATCON budget committee. See also AASMAN-1, paras 7.5.6 and 8.9.

7.5.4.4. An interim report by the National Commander and each Area Commander. See also AASMAN-1, paras 7.7 and 7.8.

7.5.4.5. Reports by standing committees and special HQs as necessary. See also AASMAN-1, para 7.6.

7.5.5. National Budget. The Board will adopt an annual budget for the expenditure of AAS funds. The Finance Committee may amend the budget in emergencies. The National Director of Financial Management, assisted by the Executive Director, will prepare and submit the budget to the Board for approval. The budget will be established IAW the PPBS outlined in AASMAN-1, Chapter 14.

7.5.6. NATCON Budget. Following review and approval by the NATCON Budget Committee the Executive Director or NATCON HQ Commander will submit an itemized budget of anticipated NATCON expenses to the Board of Directors for approval each fall. These budgets must include rooms and registration fees provided for AAS and SW national staffs, including the respective National Business Chair and Parliamentarians. Subsequent revisions of the budget are subject to the approval of the Board and Executive Director. See also AASMAN-1, paras 7.5.4.3, and 8.9.

7.5.7. Budgets for Special HQs and Projects. All officers-in-charge of special projects and special HQ commanders will submit a budget NLT 31 August to the National Director of Financial Management and Executive Director depicting anticipated expenditures IAW the PPBS format. See also AASMAN-1, para 14.9.

7.5.8. Resolutions. Any Board member may submit a resolution to the Board for consideration. Resolutions should be submitted to the National Business Chair. Any resolutions received will be published prior to the meeting of the Board.

7.5.9. Minutes. The National Director of Information Management will publish and distribute to members of the Board minutes of the fall Board meetings NLT 30 days after adjournment. See also AASMAN-1, paras 5.5.3.1 and 11.8.

7.5.10. Executive Summary. The National Director of Information Management will publish and distribute to all agencies of the Society, including each area HQ and squadron, an executive summary of the minutes of the fall Board meetings NLT 15 days after adjournment. See also AASMAN-1, para 5.5.3.5.

7.6. Committees. The National Commander will establish such committees of the Board, as they deem necessary. See also AASMAN-1, paras 8.5 through 8.9.

7.7. National Commander’s Interim Report. Twice each year, the National Commander will issue to the Board an interim report on the state of the Society. They may include any information they deems necessary. The first report is written and is issued NLT 30 days after the last Area Commander interim report is received. The second report is an oral one and is issued at NATCON each year. The National Commander must send information copies to the Executive Management Center, AFROTC/CC, each AFROTC region commander, the National Administrative Consultants, and the AFROTC/AAS Liaison Officer. See also AASMAN-1, paras 5.5.1.4 and 7.5.4.4.

7.8. Area Commanders’ Interim Reports.

7.8.1. Written Reports. Area Commanders must submit to the National Commander an interim report that includes a project overview, a finance report (as in AASMAN-1, para 14.10), ARCON updates, and the Area Commander’s goals for the area. Each report must summarize the activities sponsored by the area, the projects that are planned, and any assistance being given by the HQ to the squadrons in the area. The reports must discuss any problems encountered, outstanding squadron projects, and trends including AFA, SW, and JNP. Area Commanders shall also include data on the sizes of each cadet corps, AAS squadron active membership, AAS squadron candidate program, SW unit, and AFA chapter that the squadrons in the area work with. Area Commanders may include other information at their discretion. This report is due NLT 20 days after the area’s fall conclave, but must be delivered later than 1 Feb. Address reports to the National Commander with information copies sent to the Executive Management Center, AFROTC/CC, the respective AFROTC region commander, the National Administrative Consultants for AAS and SW, and the AFROTC/AAS Liaison Officer. These written reports should be sent in a Microsoft Word document format and transmitted via e-mail. See also AASMAN-1, para 12.20.

7.8.2. Oral Reports. In addition to the written interim report due during the year Area Commanders will present an oral report on the status of their areas to the Board of Directors during the fall Board session. This report must include the Area Commander’s goals for the year, ARCON updates, a summary of activities to be sponsored by the area, what projects are planned, and what assistance is being given by the HQ to the squadrons in the area. The report must also discuss any problems encountered (specifically with continuity), outstanding squadron projects, and trends including AFA, SW, and the JNP. Area Commanders may include other information at their discretion. Talking papers summarizing the oral presentation are due at the first fall Board session, with copies distributed to all Board members in attendance including the Executive Director, AFROTC/AAS Liaison Officer, and National Administrative Consultants.

7.9. AFA Involvement. During the fall Board meetings, members of the Board and other cadet members who have been officially invited to attend Board activities will receive lodging paid for by the AFA. In addition, some meals and social events may be available to attendees, courtesy of the AFA.

7.10. Members’ Expenses. Travel expenses to and from the fall Board meetings will be borne by the individual or the area. All other expenses not covered in AASMAN-1, para 7.9, are also the responsibility of the attendee.

7.11. Area HQs Not In Good Standing. If the National Commander observes sub-standard performance by an area HQ, he or she will issue a warning giving the area HQ 30 days to correct any problems. If the area HQ does not achieve a satisfactory performance level in that time, the National Commander may remove the area HQ from good standing. Following this action, the area commander in question will not be allowed to vote during any Board business sessions until the National Commander reinstates the area HQ to good standing. Unlike charter suspension, this action does not deny the area commander control of his squadrons. See also AASMAN-1, paras 7.4 and 11.5.5.

7.12. Contributions of Industrial Assistance. Only the Executive Director, subject to approval by the Board, may accept contributions of industrial assistance to the Society as a national organization. The Board may only make commitments by the AAS for contributions or industrial assistance. See also AASMAN-1, para 3.7.

7.13. Appeal of Decisions. Any active squadron in the Society that disapproves of actions taken by the Board may use the following appeal procedures:

7.13.1. Written Appeal. Any active squadron may submit a written appeal to its area HQ NLT 20 days after receipt of the executive summary or minutes of a Board meeting or briefing by the Area Commander. The written appeal must request a poll of the squadrons in the area. The area HQ must distribute the appeal and accompanying poll to its units NLT five days after receipt of the appeal.

7.13.2. Response. Squadrons must reply to the appeal and poll within 15 days after distribution by the area HQ.

7.13.3. National Distribution. If a majority of the squadrons in the area supports the appeal, the area HQ will forward the appeal to the Executive Management Center. Within five working days after receiving the appeal, the Executive Management Center must distribute the appeal and an accompanying poll to all area HQs and squadrons.

7.13.4. Overruling the Board. If a majority of the squadrons in the country supports the appeal, the Board action is overruled. Regardless, the Executive Management Center will notify all AAS organizations of the results of the appeal within 40 working days after initially receiving the appeal from the area HQ in question.
Chapter 8—National Special Headquarters, Standing Committees, Business Chairman, Parliamentarian, and Protocol

Section 8A—Special Headquarters

8.1. Special HQs. Special HQs for national projects are established and changed by the Board of Directors. An AAS squadron may be assigned to host the HQ for any project not assigned to a committee. The sponsoring squadrons host the special HQs listed in this chapter. The commander of each HQ is chosen from the membership of the sponsoring squadron for a one-year term. The special HQ commander, subject to review by the Board of Directors, establishes other positions within the squadron and AAS grade limitations.

8.2. Officer Dismissal. The National Commander working with the SW National President may dismiss any member of the Joint National Staffs or Special HQs, and must inform the Executive Board of the dismissal and name a replacement chosen by both AAS and SW National HQs within (15) days.

8.3. National Archives. The National Archives and all records will be maintained at the Executive Management Center.

8.3.1.1. Archives Activities. AAS archives consist of documents, records, and memorabilia pertaining to AAS. The national archives must be protected against loss or damage. Portions of the archives may be temporarily transported to locations outside the EMC for display. When displayed, archives must be properly secured or guarded. Contributions to the archives must be considered to be of national significance to AAS. Units having other items of some historical significance must maintain those items in a unit archive. See also AASMAN-1, para 12.18 for squadron history update procedures.

8.3.2. Historical Compilation Activities. The National Director of Public Affairs and the Executive Director will review all historical compilations of the National Archives and present this work to the Board at the fall session. These records must provide a factual account of AAS activities that is useful to outside agencies having an interest in the Society, provide insight into national AAS activities, or may be used as a recruiting tool.

8.3.2.1. Archive compilations must be formatted such that the entire relevant period is covered and easily displayed. Digital publication and upload to the National Website of all archival submissions and compilations is recommended.

8.3.2.2. The Board may defer publication for budgetary reasons or if the anticipated product does not meet the Board’s standards.

8.4. The Joint Alumni Association of Arnold Air Society, Angel Flight and Silver Wings (JAA). The Joint Alumni Association (JAA) supports the Arnold Air Society, Silver Wings and Angel Flight Educational Fund (ASEF) and the AAS/SW Executive Management Center as agreed by the ASEF Chair, the Executive Director(s), and the JAA leadership.
Section 8B—National Standing Committees

8.5. National Standing Committees. The NATCON general assembly, the Board of Directors, or the National Commander may establish national standing committees. The Board has the authority to disband obsolete committees.

8.5.1. Joint Relations Committee. This committee is a standing committee of the Arnold Air Society, Silver Wings, and the Air Force Association and meets at the Fall Executive Board Meetings and NATCON. The mission of this committee is to strengthen the efforts of each independent organization by capitalizing on coordinated activities that promote the shared interests held by AAS, SW, and AFA. The committee consists of three Area Commanders appointed by the AAS National Staff, three Regional Presidents appointed by the SW National Staff, and three AFA members appointed by the AFA National Executive Board. The committee is co-chaired by the AAS National Vice Commander and the SW National Vice President. The NCOP is an ex-officio member of the Joint Relations Committee.

8.6. National Committee on AFROTC Affairs. This committee makes recommendations to improve the AFROTC program. The National Vice Commander is chairperson of this committee, which consists of the area vice commanders or their representative. See also AASMAN-1, para 11.2.1.3.

8.6.1. Area Committees. Each area will establish an AFROTC affairs committee composed of the squadron deputy commanders or representative with the area vice commander as chair. These committees must meet at least once each year and collect recommendations to submit to the National Vice Commander.

8.6.2. Area Procedures. Recommendations submitted at each committee meeting require approval of at least one-third of the committee members to be submitted to the National Vice Commander. If any recommendations are submitted between the Area AFROTC Affairs Meeting and NATCON, the area/CV may approve or disapprove their addition to the area report to the National Vice Commander. By the date specified by the National Vice Commander, the Area vice commander must submit the area AFROTC Affairs Committee report to the National Vice Commander.

8.6.3. National Procedures. The National Vice Commander compiles each area AFROTC affairs committee report into an AAS Proposals report for AFROTC HQ. The report will include the topics of administration, AFROTC operations, AAS operations, uniform wear, and other topics as determined by the area committees. The National AFROTC Affairs Committee will meet at NATCON to amend and ratify the National Vice Commander’s report. Additions to the report may be made with majority approval of the committee and deletions from the report may be made with a three-fourths vote of the committee. The ratified report will be submitted to the Board of Directors NLT the last Board business session of NATCON. When submitted, the Board will approve, amend, or reject the report, as required. Upon approval, the outgoing National Vice Commander will submit the report to the AFROTC/DO and provide a courtesy copy to the Executive Director. If an AFROTC HQ representative is present at NATCON for the National AFROTC Affairs Committee Meeting, it is not necessary to take the additional steps listed above that will be accomplished in meeting with the AFROTC HQ representative. National HQ shall distribute copies of the approved report to all squadrons and area HQs.

8.7. National Finance Committee.

8.7.1. Composition and Duties. The National Finance Committee is a national standing committee composed of five area commanders selected by the Board of Directors at its fall meeting. The chair of the committee is the National Director of Financial Management who will exercise control over the national budget in accordance with the restrictions of this section. Once the Board of Directors at the fall meeting approves the national budget, any changes to the budget will be made with the written consent of a majority of the members of this committee. In emergencies, verbal consent may be obtained from the committee members, but this consent must be verified in writing. The National Commander and Executive Director act as advisors to this committee. See also AASMAN-1, para 5.5.4.3.

8.7.2. Budgets. Any area or other HQ which fails to submit a budget by the first business session of the fall meeting of the Board of Directors may be deemed ineligible for national monetary support, at the discretion of the National Finance Committee. Decisions of this committee may be appealed to the Board of Directors within seven days. See also AASMAN-1, para 14.11.

8.8. National Awards Committee. The National Awards Committee is a national standing committee composed of the National Commander as chairperson and the national staff. The committee selects the recipients of most of the national awards and honors according to the criteria established by the Board of Directors and AASMAN-1, Chapter 16.

8.9. NATCON Budget Committee. This body meets at the fall Board of Directors meeting and reviews the NATCON budget for proper financial practices and appropriate disbursements of funds. Where necessary, the committee will amend the budget, subject to approval of a committee majority. The budget must then be approved by the committee and forwarded to a full session of the Board of Directors for approval. The members are the National Commanders of AAS and SW, the National Business Chair of AAS and SW, the NATCON HQ Commander and Director of Financial Management, an AAS Area Commander appointed by the AAS National Commander, and a SW Region President appointed by the SW National President. The Executive Director and Administrative Consultants are official advisors to this committee. The committee, upon recommendation of the NATCON HQ Commander, may call appropriate and available NATCON staff officers to appear before it to discuss portions of the budget within their areas of expertise. See also AASMAN-1, paras 7.5.4.3 and 7.5.6.

8.10. Strategic Planning Committee. Consists of members from the Board of Directors at the discretion of the National Commander, to focus on the direction of the society and modify the Vision Statement accordingly. The committee will meet every 5 years from 2007, and is charged with creating an entirely different Vision Statement for the next 5 years.

Section 8C—National Business Chair and National Parliamentarian

8.11. National Business Chair. The National Business Chair is the person who was National Parliamentarian during the previous year and assumes the job immediately after the last NATCON business session. If the National Parliamentarian cannot assume the National Business
Chair duties, the National Commander will appoint a National Business Chair as soon as possible. If the National Business Chair must be relieved while in office, the National Parliamentarian automatically fills the job; in this case, the new National Business Chair will complete the current term as well as the next term. If no National Parliamentarian is in office when the National Business Chair must be replaced, the National Commander will appoint a National Business Chair to serve only the remainder of the current term and National Parliamentarian selection will proceed normally (see AASMAN-1, para 8.12.1). The National Business Chair can not be a member of the National HQ or NATCON HQ host units. The National Business Chair is an AAS C/Colonel with duties including:

8.12.2.6. Being prepared to assume the duties of National Business Chair IAW AASMAN-1, para 8.11. If the National Parliamentarian replaces the National Business Chair mid-term the National Commander and new National Business Chair must select an interim National Parliamentarian ASAP who will serve the remainder of the current term. (See also AASMAN-1, para 8.11.) The interim National Parliamentarian can not be a member of the National HQ or NATCON HQ host units and serves only through the last NATCON business session and will not automatically become the National Business Chair. 8.14.1.2. At most, three letters of recommendation.

8.14.1.3. Send applications NLT 15 February of each year. Members must send courtesy copies to the appropriate intermediate HQs and the EMC.

8.14.1.4. The National Commander and National Staff will screen all nominees and applications and select the National Webmaster. The National Commander will then inform the selectee, Board of Directors, NAC/IC, and Executive Director of the selection prior to NATCON. All notifications may be made by telephone but all notifications to the new National Webmaster and all non-selectees must be confirmed by email within five working days of the telephone contact.

8.14.2. Responsibilities & Duties. If the The National Webmaster is an AAS member they will hold the grade of AAS C/Lieutenant Colonel. The National Webmaster manages the following duties:

8.14.2.1. Publishing, maintaining, and updating AAS/SW information on the National Web Site in coordination with the National Staff, Board of Directors, and NAC/IC. This excludes all information specifically assigned to Executive Management Center for maintenance, such as the National Manuals, Forms, and the Unit Address Roster. These documents will be maintained by the NAC/IC.

8.14.2.2. Ensuring the functionality and integrity of the AAS/SW National Web Site on a continual basis.

8.14.2.3. Advising the National Staff, Board of Directors, and other units on improving the effectiveness of AAS/SW communications by using the National Web Site.

8.15. Area/Region Webmaster. The National Webmaster will encourage the use of an Area/Region Webmaster. The National Webmaster should advise Area/Region Webmasters in the performance of their duties, specifically web-based AAS/SW communication on the Area/Region level. Mentoring these professionals to the extent that they are viable candidates for the position of National Webmaster should be a primary goal throughout the academic year.

Section 8E—Protocol

8.17. Oath of Office. The National Business Chair, National Parlimentarian, National Webmaster, and National Chief of Protocol shall take the following Oath of Office before assuming their position:

8.17.1. All this I freely promise upon my honor as a loyal member of [insert organization].
Chapter 9—Conclaves

Section 9A—General Information

9.1. Background and Purposes. The major business sessions of the Society are the national and area conclaves. Attendance is encouraged for the benefit of the person, squadron, and the Society. The traditional purposes of conclaves are to make major policy guidance for the Society and take action on matters where joint action of the units is desirable or required.

9.2. Jurisdiction. The legislative body of the national and area membership that convenes at the respective conclaves determines the basic guidance of the units governed. All legislative bodies of lesser jurisdiction than the NATCON are subject to the bylaws of their unit and the legislation and policy of all higher bodies. Any legislative body may delegate its authority.

9.3. Procedures.

9.3.2. Roll Calls.

9.3.2.1. At the first joint and separate business sessions of each NATCON, attendance may be taken in one of two ways (to be chosen by the National Business Chairman):

9.3.2.1.1. A unit-by-unit roll call taken by the National Parliamentarian; or,

9.3.2.1.2. A poll will be taken by each area commander of the units in the area. The National Parliamentarian will request each area report attendance with a specific listing of proxy votes held and units absent from the meeting.

9.3.2.2. At subsequent business sessions, attendance will be taken IAW AASMAN-1, para 9.3.2.1.2.

Section 9B—Area Conclaves. (please see The ARCON Planning Guide for additional important details)

9.4. Purpose and Objectives. The purpose and objectives of area conclaves are similar to those of NATCONs, but these conclaves handle business on regional levels and affect only their assigned units. Please see The ARCON Planning Guide for additional important details.

9.5. Site Selection and Scheduling.

9.5.1. Scheduling. Area conclaves are held once each year between 1 October and the end of November. Should an Area Conclave HQ believe it cannot comply with this provision, the HQ must provide full justification in writing to the National HQ NLT the fall Board of Directors meeting. Justifications must be reviewed by the Executive Director and be approved by the National Commander.

9.5.2. Pricing. Competitive pricing of hotel facilities is limited in small towns and “college towns.” Larger cities provide the most advantageous price competition. In small- and medium-sized cities, conclave planners must avoid scheduling any conclave during the same period as other major activities (e.g. trade fairs, major sporting events, homecomings) which would nullify the normal price competition in the city’s hotel industry. Obtain information regarding activities planned by other groups from the city convention or tourist bureau.

9.5.3. Consultation. The Executive Management Center is available to consult with any conclave host unit on the site selection, planning, and operation of conclaves.

9.6. Bidding.

9.6.1. Preliminary Requirements. Prior to presenting a bid for any conclave, the proposing squadron must obtain approval of the detachment professor of aerospace studies. Units should complete a preliminary ARCON Planning Guide, located on the website.

9.6.2. Bids. Bids may be presented at area conclaves, NATCON area caucuses, or by e-mail, depending on the governing manual provisions or responsible commander’s discretion. Areas should not accept bids for conclaves unless the proposed host unit has completed a preliminary planning package. Selection is by a majority vote of the governing body. Area HQs may appoint an ARCON HQ host unit should no bid receive approval by the area.

9.6.3. ARCON Planning Guide. Once an area unit has been selected to host the ARCON, that unit must submit a completed ARCON Planning Guide and proposed budget to the EMC for critique. Send the package to the EMC as soon as planning information is firm, but NLT the end of the academic year prior to the scheduled ARCON. Units should make no contract or agreement with any hotels or other agencies until the Executive Management Center reviews and returns the unit’s planning package to the squadron.

9.6.4. National Funding Assistance to Money-Losing Conclaves. A conclave that loses money using a critiqued planning package plan and followed the suggestions offered may be subsidized by national funds. This subsidy is limited to $250.00. If the suggestions in the critiqued package are not used by the host unit, the national subsidy is limited to $50.00. Any conclave HQ that did not submit a planning package to the Executive Management Center for critique is not eligible for any subsidy.

9.7. Conclave HQ Commander. Planning and executing conclave activities are the responsibility of the area conclave HQ commander, under the direction of the Area Commander. The host unit chooses the conclave HQ commander from the general membership. The conclave commander holds the grade of AAS C/Lieutenant Colonel. This officer must prepare an after-actions report on all facets of conclave operations and finances and provide same to the Executive Management Center, area HQ, and the succeeding ARCON HQ. Ensure all continuity is transferred to the incoming ARCON HQ NLT 60 days after ARCON.

9.8. Staff. ARCON HQs suggested staff is:

- Vice Commander (CV)
  - AAS C/Major
- Director of Operations (DO)
  - AAS C/Captain
- Director of Information Management (IM)
  - AAS C/Captain
- Director of Financial Management (FM)
  - AAS C/Captain
- Director of Public Affairs (PA)
  - AAS C/Captain
9.9. Presiding Officer. The conclave presiding officers are the Area Commander and the SW Region President or their designated representative.

9.10. Finances.

9.10.1. Budget Review. The National Director of Financial Management may review any conclave budget and, with the consent of the National Commander and Executive Director, make budgetary changes necessary to ensure the financial viability of the conclave HQ. See also AASMAN-1, para 5.5.4.2.

9.10.2. Registration Fees. Conclaves will be financed by a per-member registration fee determined by the conclave staff after a careful assessment of anticipated expenses and with the approval of the Area Commander. The area HQ must provide whatever financial assistance it can, should the host squadron lose more money than the national funding guarantees mentioned in AASMAN-1, para 9.6.3.

9.10.3. Advance Registration. Participants must pay registration fees in advance. If fees are not collected in advance, the host unit must set a cancellation date for tentative registrations. Members who do not cancel by the established date are responsible for paying their share of pre-planned, fixed costs, regardless of attendance at the conclave.

9.10.4. Refunds. Refunds of pre-paid registration fees to registrants unable to attend the conclave are the responsibility of the conclave HQ. However, if a registrant fails to cancel by the established date or fails to cancel hotel reservations prior to 1700 local time on the check-in day, the conclave commander may withhold that portion of the refund required to settle fixed costs or hotel charges for the first night of the no-show. The conclave HQ is not required to make a refund for a single event of the conclave that a registrant does not attend.

9.11. Agendas. Conclave HQs will distribute a proposed schedule of events to all area AAS squadrons and region SW chapters NLT 30 days prior to the conclave. A reminder that all proxy votes must be received by squadrons unable to attend ARCON prior to that ARCON to facilitate the conduct of business must be included with the agenda. The AAS Area Commander and SW RP are responsible for developing the business agenda, which will be combined with the schedule of events and forwarded to all squadrons and chapters NLT 15 days prior to the conclave. These agendas are for planning purposes only and will not preclude the deletion or addition of any item, as adjusted by the Area Commander. Agendas must include at least an organizational analysis by the Area Commander, a financial report by the Area Director of Financial Management, and reports from all unit commanders.

9.12. Transportation. Area HQs and area conclave HQs will coordinate all travel arrangements to the conclave. Make military airlift requests through appropriate channels. Use privately owned vehicles where practical.

9.13. Protocol.

9.13.1. Opening Ceremonies. Opening ceremonies must include a welcome by the hosts and, if desired, a keynote address by a selected speaker. Ceremonies such as the posting of colors, invocations, or theme presentations (shows, musical renditions, etc.) can be helpful in establishing the objectives and tone of the conclave.

9.13.2. Guests. Invite guests in writing NLT 60 days in advance. The costs of certain guests to be paid for by the conclave HQ must be considered in financial planning. Active duty military guests on per diem or industry guests on expense accounts are expected to pay hotel costs. Waivers of registration fees for these guests are dependent on the guests’ degree of participation in the conclave or the position they hold. Send invited dignitaries an agenda and information on social activities NLT 30 days before the conclave. See ARCON Planning Guide for further guidance.

9.13.3. Area Chief of Protocol Duties. All duties associated with guest lists, receptions, seating of head tables, and related functions are assigned to the area/region chief of protocol. The area/region chief of protocol must coordinate closely with the conclave chair and Area Commander in performing these duties. If the office of ArCOP is vacant, it is the ARCON staff’s responsibility to provide for the duties of an ArCOP for the ARCON concerning protocol and etiquette. Reference JPM.

9.13.4. Social Functions. If awards and entertainment are included in a major meal function, conduct the function as an awards luncheon/banquet/ball rather than a Dining-In/Out.

9.13.5. References. Refer to the AAS/SW Joint Protocol Manual (JPM) or other suitable protocol reference guide for invitation formats and other protocol guidance.

9.13.6. Area Chief of Protocol Selection. The Area/CC, in conjunction with the RP and current ARCOP, must accept applications and decide jointly on an ARCOP whose position takes affect at NATCON. This process must be completed by the end of the ARCON. Reference JPM.

9.14. Commanders Calls. AAS specifically prohibits holding any type of commander’s call, except those held in conjunction with the National Conclave or area conclaves.

9.15. Joint Conclaves. Any joint conclave of the units of the Society is authorized, subject to approval of the governing bodies of the units concerned. Scheduling will be by mutual agreement of the units concerned. Plan these events IAW all normal area conclave guidelines.
Chapter 10—National Conclave (NATCON) Site Selection and NATCON HQ

Section 10A—Site Selection

10.1. Site Selection. The National Conclave (NATCON) will convene once each year at a place designated as the most competitive choice. The primary method of site selection is for squadrons bidding to host NATCON to select a hotel property that best meets the requirements of the national organization. These requirements, as outlined in AASMAN-1, para 10.2, include number of hotel rooms, meeting space, banquet facilities, convenience to transportation, and cost. Throughout the selection process, squadrons will keep the Executive Director informed of their progress and contract negotiations. The bidding squadron, in conjunction with the Executive Director, will select a primary hotel prior to presentation of their bid to the General Assembly. Once the General Assembly passes a NATCON location resolution, the host squadron and Executive Director will finalize the negotiations. The Executive Director has been designated by the Society to sign the NATCON contract.

10.1.1. Advance Notice of Intent to Bid. Any squadron with an interest in bidding to host NATCON should contact the Executive Director for advice and information on possible sites in their intended area. It is not necessary for the host squadron to be located in the immediate vicinity of the NATCON site. Squadrons intending to bid to host the NATCON should advise the Executive Management Center NLT 30 days prior to the conclave at which the bid will be presented. The proposed host squadron must list in its bid any chapters or squadrons that have agreed to assist in the planning or operation of the NATCON. Each bid must be in the format of a NATCON resolution and must state the host squadron and chapter, names of prospective NATCON staff (see para 10.6), and the name of the host PAS. For resolution preparation, see AASMAN-1, para 11.4 and 11.1. All bids must have the written endorsement of the host PAS. A copy of this bid must be sent to the AAS and SW National Headquarters and respective Business Chairs NLT six weeks prior to the start of the current NATCON.

10.1.2. Site Criteria Deficiency. If a site selected by the General Assembly does not meet the prescribed criteria, the Executive Management Center and National HQ will review the situation and present recommended solutions to the problem to the Board of Directors.

10.1.3. Meetings. A meeting may be requested by any squadron commander to review a site considered to be of potential value to the AAS for a specific future NATCON. Direct all requests for meeting and site review to the Executive Management Center. The Executive Director will review other potential sites at the invitation of commercial hotel and convention managers.

10.2. NATCON Site Criteria. Any facility proposed as a NATCON site must meet the following criteria:

10.2.1. Convention facilities furnished at no cost to AAS.

10.2.2. Sleeping accommodations for at least 1,500, with no more than four people per bedroom.

10.2.3. A maximum of two hotels, each having easy access to the other.
10.2.4. A minimum of:

10.2.4.1. One banquet facility for 1,500 people.
10.2.4.2. Twenty meeting rooms with a seating capacity of at least 25.
10.2.4.3. Two meeting rooms with a seating capacity of at least 400.
10.2.4.4. One meeting room with a seating capacity of at least 1,500.
10.2.4.5. Two rooms for command centers and one room for an information center.
10.2.4.6. Adequate low-cost parking within five blocks of the convention center.

10.2.5. NATCON dates will be restricted to four days and will include a full weekend. The NATCON is held in conjunction with the SW NATCON, normally during the Easter weekend due to the availability of the most economic room rates and open dates for scheduling large conventions.

10.2.6. Any site will be chosen based on economic common sense.

10.2.7. A commercial airport of sufficient size must be within one hour of the hotel.

10.2.8. There must be a variety of economic restaurants within a five-block radius of the hotel. This criterion is fulfilled by resort-type properties where there is a variety of food outlets.

10.3. No NATCON Host Bids Received. In the event no NATCON host bids are received by the suspense date, the following regulation applies:

10.3.1. The National Commander extends the bid suspense date to 1 March and solicits bids.

10.3.2. If no bids are received, the National Commander extends the suspense date to the next NATCON.

10.3.3. If no bids are received by the first spring Board of Directors meeting, the National Commander must brief the Board on the situation. The National Commander must then brief the membership at the first business session.

10.3.4. Area commanders will then solicit bids from their squadrons during area caucuses.

10.3.5. If these procedures do not result in the selection of a NATCON host unit, the Executive Director, with the advice of the National Commander and AAS Board of Trustees, will use his executive authority to arrange a suitable NATCON site and host squadron under the guidelines of this manual.

Section 10B—NATCON HQ

10.4. Description. The NATCON HQ staff comes from the membership of the squadron selected to host the NATCON and is directly responsible to the Board of Directors through the National Commander. This HQ may not be hosted by the same squadron hosting the National HQ in the same year as the NATCON in question.
10.4.1. Silver Wings Co-Command. Squadrons with a co-located SW Chapter will co-host the NATCON HQ. The chapter will share responsibility and provide an appropriate staff headed by a co-commander, equal in rank to the AAS NATCON Commander. Procedures are detailed in SWM. If the host squadron does not have a co-located SW unit, a nearby chapter may volunteer to co-host NATCON. In this case, the chapter will have the same responsibility as a co-located chapter would have.

10.4.2. Absence of Silver Wing Command/Supporting Chapter. If, due to geographical limitations, a co-located or nearby SW unit is not available to support the conclave, squadrons intending to bid will establish an agreement with any SW unit that will assume the co-command in order to plan and execute NATCON. These units should be located so that they can assist in site preparation and all aspects of NATCON planning without extreme cost or delay. This agreement will be written, signed by both parties and presented as part of the bid packet. Squadrons may not bid without support from a SW unit.

10.5. Selection. Any squadron in good standing is eligible to host NATCON and will use these procedures to bid:

10.5.1. Bid Timing and Format. Bids are considered at the NATCON one year in advance of the proposed date. Each bid will be in the form of a resolution stating the name of the proposed host squadron, location and dates of the NATCON, names of the hotel(s) (if known), and names of proposed HQ officers and the professor of aerospace studies. Each bidding unit must send its proposed NATCON budget to the Executive Management Center and National HQ for review NLT 60 days prior to the NATCON where the bid presentations will be made. Bid resolutions must be reviewed by the Executive Management Center at least 30 days prior to the NATCON at which the bid is to be considered. All bids must also include letters of endorsement from the president of the university and professor of aerospace studies. See also AASMAN-1, para 11.4.

10.5.2. NATCON Procedures. Bid resolutions will be presented at the first joint business session and must be followed by a question-and-answer period. Following this, the bids will be tabled until a later business session. At the appropriate business session, bids will be untabled for discussion and decision. Each bid presentation will be no longer than 30 minutes and have a five-minute question-and-answer period. Presentations will be conducted only by active members of AAS and SW; other interested parties may answer questions from the assembly.

10.5.3. Special Voting Procedures. The NATCON host squadron will be determined by a majority vote of both AAS and SW. Each unit and area/region HQ is entitled to one vote. Should one resolution not receive a majority vote from both organizations, a vote will be held between the top two resolutions. During business sessions, questions on this policy will be resolved by the National Commanders and National Business Chairs of both organizations.

10.5.4. Briefing to the Board of Directors. Key members of the NATCON staff will be invited to attend the fall meeting of the Board of Directors in Washington DC. During this meeting, the NATCON HQ staff will update the Board on the proposed events, agenda, and budget of the upcoming NATCON. In the presence of the Executive Director, final registration costs will be decided during this session and announced. See also AASMAN-1, para 7.5.4.3.

10.6. Staff. The NATCON HQ staff will be commanded by an AAS C/Colonel who is selected from the squadron membership. General duties of staff officers are listed in AASMAN-1, Chapter 4. The NATCON HQ Commander may augment the staff with additional positions and use members of other squadrons that desire to support the NATCON HQ. The recommended NATCON HQ staff includes:

- Vice Commander (CV)
  - AAS C/Lt Colonel

- Director of Operations (DO)
  - AAS C/Major

- Director of Information Management (IM)
  - AAS C/Major

- Director of Financial Management (FM)
  - AAS C/Major

- Director of Public Affairs (PA)
  - AAS C/Major

- Director of Support (DS)
  - AAS C/Major

10.7. Vacancies. The NATCON HQ Commander fills vacancies in NATCON HQ staff positions. The National Commander and SW President may name a replacement for the NATCON HQ Commander with the approval of the NATCON HQ Advisor.

10.8. Dismissals. The NATCON HQ Commander may dismiss any member of the HQ staff. The National Commander and SW President may dismiss the NATCON HQ Commander after discussion with the Executive Director, National HQ Advisor, and NATCON HQ Advisor.

10.9. Runners Used During NATCON. Active members from the NATCON HQ host unit will serve as runners to assist Executive Management Center personnel and the National Business Chair during NATCON. If possible, furnish these runners with radio communication to the NATCON command post. See also AASMAN-1, para 8.12.2.5.

10.10. Advisor. See AASMAN-1, Attachment 8.

10.11. Finance. All rentals and purchases of supplies and services necessary to conduct the NATCON will be made by NATCON HQ with approval of the Executive Director using funds allocated in the NATCON budget. The NATCON HQ must plan to operate on a break-even basis.

10.11.1. Funding. NATCON HQ will return funds used for start-up operations to the Executive Management Center or other Society agencies that advanced the NATCON HQ before finalizing the NATCON books. Remit surplus funds to the Executive Management Center for use at the succeeding NATCON HQ or placement in the Consolidated Programs Fund. Deficits will be paid off using funds obtained from other sources.

10.11.2. Financial Assistance. The AFA provides financial assistance to AAS for defraying NATCON expenses. The Executive Director obtains this assistance based on the needs of the Society.

10.11.3. Budgeting. Site cost must be calculated with an attendance metric no greater than the average attendance of the last three NATCONs. See AASMAN-1, paras 7.5.4.3, 7.5.6, and 8.9, for provisions and operation of the NATCON Budget Committee.
10.11.4. Financial Reporting. NLT 45 days after NATCON, NATCON HQ will submit a consolidated balance sheet, income statement, and transaction record to the Executive Management Center.

10.12. Physical Location. In addition to the requirements stated in AASMAN-1, para 10.3, the Executive Director and NATCON HQ must make written agreements to provide the following items:

10.12.1. Duplicating Facilities. Sufficient facilities or resources must be available to prepare and distribute a paper or digital copy of each resolution and other pertinent documents to each voting member of the general assembly. These facilities must include a copier and printer.

10.12.2. Committee Meeting Rooms. Separate conference rooms must be available for each committee meeting.

10.12.3. Business Session Microphones. During meetings of the general assembly, microphones must be placed at the podium and no fewer than two locations on the floor of the assembly.

10.13. Library. NATCON HQ will provide a library in the command post which includes at least:

10.14. Advance Information. NATCON HQ must provide the necessary advance information including the dates of NATCON, agenda, prices, and attire to all AAS and SW agencies.

10.15. Schedule of Events and Business Agendas. NATCON HQ will submit a proposed NATCON schedule of events to the Board of Directors NLT the fall session of the Board. The AAS National Commander and Silver Wings National President are responsible for creating the NATCON Agenda, which will incorporate the NATCON HQ “Schedule of Events” with the AAS-SW business meetings. NLT 15 January, a preliminary draft will be forwarded to the Executive Director for review and comment. NATCON HQ will use the draft agenda to coordinate meeting room space with the hotel convention manager. As changes are made to the agenda, they will be coordinated with the members of the Agenda Working Group (National HQ, NBC, NATCON HQ, NCOP, and EMC). The AAS National Commander and SW National President along with the two National Business Chairs will assist the NATCON HQ staff in determining the overall business agenda that accompanies the schedule of events and will set the agenda to be used during each applicable session during the NATCON.

10.16. Registration Packets. NATCON HQ will provide packets for all attendees containing the schedule of events and a program for the NATCON. While the NATCON HQ may include any other pertinent information it desires, no campaign materials may be distributed in the packets. NATCON HQ will obtain complimentary folders to hold the packet materials.
10.17. National Archives Material. NATCON HQ must submit any materials of historic value to the Executive Management Center. For information on the minutes of the NATCON, see AASMAN-1, para 11.8.

10.18. NATCON After-Action Report. NLT 60 days after NATCON, NATCON HQ will submit an after-action report to the Executive Management Center. The report must include information on the planning and execution of all phases of NATCON, an analysis of problems encountered, and the solutions implemented. Copies of this report must be made available to any AAS unit upon request.

Section 10C—NATCON Operations

10.19. Attendance. Each squadron and area HQ is entitled to representation at NATCON by a delegate and alternates. The Area Commander or appointed representative will be the delegate from each Area HQ. Squadron representatives will be selected in the manner prescribed by squadron procedures. Every AAS unit is strongly encouraged to send at least one member to each conclave.

10.19.1. Absence from NATCON. Squadrons that cannot attend NATCON must send an official memorandum, signed by their squadron adviser, to the Area Commander NLT 30 days prior to the first business session of NATCON explaining and requesting exclusion from the upcoming National Conclave. Squadrons that are approved absence must fill out a proxy ballot NLT 14 days prior to the first business session of NATCON and submit it to the National Business Chair. The above suspenses are mandatory; squadrons not fulfilling the requirements will be placed on probationary status and their squadron advisor will be informed of the situation.

10.19.2. Squadron/Area Advisors. AAS squadrons and area HQs will invite their advisors to attend NATCON.

10.20. Transportation.

10.20.1. Commercial Transport. The Executive Management Center will subsidize commercial airfare for one representative from each off-shore squadron to attend NATCON. This line item amount must be included in each year’s financial plan and will be determined by a combination of the National Finance Committee’s recommendation and the judgment of the Executive Director as to each unit’s revenue-generating capability.

10.21. Social Functions. Social functions conducted outside the hotel are included at the discretion of NATCON HQ. Consultation with the Executive Director is required on the acceptability of any event’s potential impact on registration fees.

10.23. Attire. All AFROTC and USAFA uniforms, except utility uniforms, are appropriate for the various NATCON activities, subject to the guidance and policies of the National Commander. See also AFI 36-2903, HCI 36-2008, and AASMAN-1, para 18.3.5 and 18.4.

10.24. Decorum. Each Area Commander will monitor the conduct of the personnel under his or her command who attend NATCON and ensure all behavior is within the bounds of Air Force standards and good taste. See also AASMAN-1, para 12.13.1.2.
Chapter 11—National Conclave Legislative Process

11.1. General Procedures. Resolutions concerning changes to AAS policy and directives, all national level HQs, and AFROTC Affairs suggestions reach NATCON business sessions by the following procedures.

11.1.1. Origin and Submission of Resolutions. Resolutions may be submitted to National HQ in advance of NATCON or during the Conclave. Resolutions are submitted by units with commanders, any member of the Board of Directors, or any committee chairperson. See AASMAN-1, para 11.4.

11.1.2. Rules, Ways, and Means Committee (RWMC) Action. Resolutions are checked by the Rules, Ways, and Means Committee (RWMC) prior to being submitted to Conclave committees or the assembly. See AASMAN-1, paras 11.2.1.2 and 11.3.

11.1.3. Committee Assignments for Resolutions. All resolutions submitted before the last scheduled committee meetings may be assigned to a committee by the chair of the RWMC. Resolutions submitted after the last scheduled committee meetings may be brought to the Conclave assembly if a majority of the assembly approves. See AASMAN-1, para 11.2.7.

11.1.4. Committee Action. A committee may take several actions. It may write new resolutions, approve a resolution as written and submit the resolution to the JRWMC for delivery to the assembly or Board of Directors, return the resolution to the author for revision, revise the new resolution, table the resolution for further study or discussion, or take any other legislative action that is appropriate under Robert's Rules of Order.

11.1.5. Resolutions Including a Financial Commitment by the Society. Any resolution involving an inflexible commitment of funds by all squadrons or changing the currently approved five-year expenditure plan must have previously undergone an evaluation of its fiscal impact on the Society and SW. The Executive Director prepares an assessment addressing all units and members relative to existing financial commitments (e.g. fees, dues, projects, other professional obligations). Additionally, if the resolution involves support from the Consolidated Programs Fund or changes the Society’s schedule of dues and fees, it must include a similar evaluation performed by the Board of Trustees. No legislative body or committee at any level may approve any resolution that falls under the purview of this paragraph unless the resolution has received the appropriate evaluation(s).

11.2. Conclave Committees and Area Caucuses.

11.2.1. Establishing Committees. The National Commander will establish the number and purpose of any committees necessary to analyze and vote on resolutions submitted to the NATCON. The following committees and associated responsibilities are required during the sessions specified. See also AASMAN-1, paras 7.6 and 8.5 through 8.9.

11.2.1.1. Candidate Training Program Review Committee. Every third NATCON (from 2005), this committee will examine possible revision of the candidate training program and initiation procedures contained in AASMAN-1, Attachment 2. During this review, this committee must determine the relevance of the questions in the National Test and add, delete, or change those questions the committee deems necessary.

11.2.1.2. Joint Rules, Ways, and Means Committee (JRWMC). This is a special committee of the joint Boards of Directors. This committee deals with resolutions affecting both organizations. All provisions of AASMAN-1, para 11.3, will be followed in the operation of this committee, except voting membership includes the AAS National Commander and Silver Wings National President as co-chairs, three area commanders from AAS, and three Regional Presidents (RP) from SW. The two chairs vote only in the event of a tie. AAS non-voting membership is the same as listed in AASMAN-1, para 11.3.2. SW non-voting membership includes the Silver Wings Business Chair, Parliamentarian, and one other member of the SW national staff selected by the SW National President. On Joint National Project (JNP) resolutions, this committee will screen all presentations and select three resolutions to go before the joint assembly for presentation and vote. Should there be a need to change the approved JNP, one of the two projects not picked by the NATCON general assembly will be selected as the replacement. If AAS and SW cannot agree by the end of NATCON upon a JNP project then the JNP will remain the same as the previous year. See AASMAN-1, para 3.10, for criteria used in JNP selection. See also AASMAN-1, para 11.1.2.

11.2.1.3. AFROTC Affairs Committee. The National Committee on AFROTC Affairs formulates recommendations concerning the AFROTC program. See AASMAN-1, para 8.6, for composition, duties, and procedures.

11.2.2. Committee Assignments. National HQ makes all committee assignments according to the following rules.

11.2.2.1. The delegate from any squadron or area submitting a resolution prior to NATCON will be assigned to the committee considering that resolution.

11.2.2.2. Delegates from squadrons submitting resolutions that may be assigned to more than one committee will be given their choice of committee assignments.

11.2.2.3. Other delegates may apply for membership on any committee they desire by using the committee assignment request form distributed by National HQ NLT 40 days prior to NATCON. Units requesting a committee membership must return the form within 10 days of receipt.

11.2.2.4. National HQ will distribute committee assignments at the beginning of NATCON.

11.2.2.5. Delegates or members representing a unit sponsoring a resolution may appear before any AAS or joint committee considering said resolution.

11.2.3. Committee Chairpersons. Each committee chairperson will be an area commander selected by the National Commander from the requests of area commanders (similar to the process shown in AASMAN-1, para 11.2.2).
11.2.4. Committee Voting. Only authorized delegates and the area commanders specifically assigned to a committee may vote on motions before the committee. Any AAS member may attend a committee session.

11.2.5. Meetings. Committee meetings must be scheduled to allow the committee members to consider any motion prior to the time that motion is scheduled to be considered by the general assembly. The chairperson will schedule subsequent meetings, if necessary.

11.2.6. Area Caucuses. NATCON HQ will provide time and meeting space for the area commanders to convene their areas in caucus. Agenda items are at the discretion of each area commander. NATCON HQ may not schedule these sessions on the NATCON arrival date and must schedule them to occur before the committee meetings are held. Subsequent caucuses are at the discretion of the area commander.

11.2.7. Call From Committee. A majority of NATCON delegates or a majority of area commanders may call a resolution from committee at any time. In these cases, the National Business Chair or presiding officer must schedule the resolution for debate and disposition at the earliest possible time. Unless a resolution is called from committee, all resolutions must go through one of the RWMCs before reaching the general assembly. See also AASMAN-1, paras 11.1.3 and 11.3.6.

11.3. Rules, Ways, and Means Committee (RWMC). The RWMC is a special committee of the Board of Directors and functions at the fall Executive Boards and NATCON. See also AASMAN-1, para 11.1.2.

11.3.1. Responsibilities. The RWMC reviews and approves all NATCON legislation prior to committee or general assembly action.

11.3.2. Membership. The National Commander is the chair of the RWMC, comprised of four area commanders as voting members. The National Commander may vote to break a tie. Non-voting members are the Executive Director or his representative, National Business Chair, National Parliamentarian, National Administrative Consultants, AAS-AFROTC Liaison Officer, and one National HQ staff member appointed by the National Commander.

11.3.3. Powers. See AASMAN-1, para 11.1.4.

11.3.4. RWMC Procedures. The RWMC must ensure all resolutions have sufficient detail and coordination to be satisfactorily implemented by the Society and do not conflict with any higher authority, unless the resolution seeks to change that authority. In deciding whether to submit a resolution to the Board of Directors or the general assembly for action, the RWMC must consider the importance and controversial nature of the resolution. Those resolutions with the potential for significant impact on the Society must be submitted to the general assembly.

11.3.5. Rejected Resolutions. Sponsors may submit resolutions rejected by the RWMC to the general assembly by using the procedures in AASMAN-1, para 11.2.7.
11.3.6. RWMC Bypass. If the RWMC can not or will not meet to consider a resolution, sponsors may submit these resolutions to the general assembly by using the procedures in AASMAN-1, para 11.2.7.

11.4. Production and Distribution of Resolutions.

11.4.1. Resolutions Submitted In Advance. The sponsoring agency will send a copy of each resolution to National HQ, the National Business Chair, and the Executive Management Center. These resolutions must be sent by facsimile transmission, or transmitted via e-mail NLT 30 days before the first day of NATCON. No resolutions submitted during the 30-day period immediately prior to NATCON will be accepted. Other resolutions may be submitted IAW AASMAN-1, para 11.4.2. After approval by the RWMC, the National Parliamentarian will produce and distribute a copy of each resolution to National HQ, the Executive Management Center, the National Business Chair, the National Parliamentarian, all special HQs, all area HQs, all delegates, and the National Administrative Consultants.

11.4.2. Resolutions Submitted at NATCON. Resolutions not submitted IAW AASMAN-1, para 0, may be submitted at NATCON NLT 24 hours prior to the final joint or AAS business session, depending on which type of session the resolution must be considered in. The sponsoring agency must provide the same three copies shown in AASMAN-1, para 0. Following RWMC approval, reproduce and distribute the resolution IAW the instructions in AASMAN-1, para 0.

11.4.3. Numbering Resolutions. The National Business Chair is responsible for numbering NATCON resolutions.

11.4.4. Format. See AASMAN-1, Figure 11-1, for the proper format of AAS resolutions.

11.5. Parliamentary Procedure and Voting.

11.5.1. Parliamentary Authority. Robert’s Rules of Order - Newly Revised governs all proceedings at NATCON. The National Commander and National Business Chair may direct additional rules be used, subject to modifications by the RWMC and adopted by the NATCON general assembly. A two-thirds vote of the NATCON general assembly may suspend these rules in special instances.

11.5.2. Voting.

11.5.2.1. Delegates. Each area HQ and squadron in good standing are entitled to one delegate (the area commander for area HQs) who has both voice and one vote at all NATCON business sessions.

11.5.2.2. Alternates. Each area HQ and squadron in good standing are entitled to one alternate delegate who has voice, when authorized by the delegate. In the absence of the delegate, the alternate has voice and one vote at all NATCON business sessions.

11.5.3. Vote of the NATCON. A vote of the NATCON is a vote of all authorized delegates taken during a business session of the NATCON.
11.5.4. Vote of the National Commander. The National Commander may only vote to break a tie on a particular ballot. In joint session with Silver Wings, the National Commander’s tie-breaking vote is only applicable to a vote in the AAS house of the NATCON general assembly.

11.5.5. Loss of Vote. If both the delegate and alternate delegate of an area HQ or squadron miss any roll call of any business session and their absence has not been previously excused by the National Business Chair, the unit forfeits its right to vote during the remainder of the NATCON. A roll call may be taken at any time during a business session, but one is always taken at the start of each business session. Area commanders or their representatives must report all absences of their units to the National Business Chair. Units may also lose their vote if their members do not comply with established procedures of decorum, attire, and other subjects decided by the National Business Chair. An area HQ may also be denied its vote IAW AASMAN-1, para 7.11. If the National Business Chair is unwilling to restore a unit’s vote, the general assembly may restore voting powers to that unit by a two-thirds vote. See also AASMAN-1, para 9.3.2.

11.5.6. Proxy Votes. Areas or squadrons not represented at NATCON may delegate their vote to any other voting agency. Proxies will be done using the AAS Proxy Vote Form (AASF 9) with copies provided for National HQ, NATCON HQ, the Executive Management Center, and the National Business Chair. Agencies delegating their vote in advance of NATCON must submit this form NLT 14 days prior to the start of NATCON. Agencies that must miss any part of the NATCON may delegate their vote using these procedures during NATCON. Any proxy may be redelegated to another agency, unless the original proxy prohibits redelegation. To redelegate a proxy, use the standard form mentioned in this paragraph and attach the original proxies. The National Commander and National Business Chair may make any exceptions to the proxy policy they deem appropriate.

11.5.7. Quorum. A quorum is present when two-thirds of the authorized voting delegates are present.

11.5.8. Squadrons Not In Good Standing. Squadrons not in good standing may attend NATCON. Representatives of these units have all NATCON privileges except voting power. See also AASMAN-1, paras 2.2.5, and 13.2.

11.5.9. Recesses. The National Business Chair may recess any session of the NATCON that is longer than two hours in duration.

11.5.10. Adjournment. The NATCON or any session thereof may be adjourned by a motion from the floor provided all business scheduled for the NATCON or that session is complete. No business session on the last day of NATCON may extend past 2359 local time.

11.6. Agendas. In addition to selection of national-level HQs for the next academic year, all NATCON agendas will include the items shown below.

11.6.1. Speakers. Each guest speaker and the session during which he or she will address the NATCON must be indicated on the agenda.
11.6.2. Reports.

11.6.2.1. National Commander. The National Commander will give a report summarizing the Board of Directors’ actions during the year, evaluating the status of AAS, and making recommendations for the future of the Society.

11.6.2.2. Executive Director. The Executive Director will give a report analyzing the organization, summarizing the Executive Management Center’s actions during the year, and describing the financial state of the Society.

11.6.2.3. National Director of Financial Management. The National Director of Financial Management will give a financial report, unless this is adequately covered by the Executive Director IAW AASMAN-1, para 11.6.2.2.

11.6.2.4. Special Reports. The officers-in-charge of any special projects or national standing committees will give a report of the activities undertaken in the preceding year.

11.6.2.5. AFA. The AFA will be invited to deliver a report to the assembly on any topics the AFA deems appropriate.

11.6.2.6. Other Reports. The National Commander may approve the invitation of other interested parties who wish to brief the Society on topics that have a potential impact on AAS.

11.6.3. Committee Reports. Following the committee reports given IAW AASMAN-1, para 11.6.2.4, it may be necessary for the National Business Chair to schedule time for question-and-answer, debate, and voting periods, depending on the nature of any recommendations made by the committees.

11.7. Joint AAS and SW Business. Joint meetings of AAS and SW will be held during the NATCON to consider and decide on any legislation affecting both organizations. AAS and SW share responsibilities in chairing the joint sessions. Prior to Executive Boards and NATCON, the AAS Commander, SW President and NBCs will meet and come to a majority consensus about who will lead each joint session. If a majority consensus cannot be reached, both SW and AAS will lead an equal number of joint sessions; in the case that there are an odd number of Joint Sessions, the organization with the largest membership will lead the final session. For any resolution to pass in these sessions, both AAS and SW must approve the resolution in bicameral format.

11.8. Minutes. During each NATCON, the National Commander and National Parliamentarian will meet to set the suspense date for submission of the NATCON minutes to the new National Commander. This date will be no more than 30 days after the last day of the National Parliamentarian’s college final examinations for the term. The National Commander will inform his or her successor of this date. The minutes must be submitted on or before this date. The minutes of the NATCON will be published by the new National Business Chair (former Parliamentarian) who will provide copies to the AAS and SW National HQs, the SW National Business Chair, each AAS and SW Consultant, and the Executive Management Center (EMC). EMC will provide additional copies to requesting agencies. After retention for four years at the EMC, the EMC copy of the minutes will become the National Archives record copy. Minutes are prepared IAW the guidelines shown below.

11.8.1. Sessions. A set of minutes will be prepared for each joint and AAS business session and Board of Directors meeting. The minutes will be a representation of the affairs conducted during these sessions. Minutes will convey a highly detailed summary of the information presented, events that occurred, speeches made, debate, reports, and other significant items. It is critical that enough historical information is recorded in the minutes so that parties who could not attend the National Conclave can later reconstruct a clear image of events that transpired. This is particularly important concerning resolutions and other legislative matters, as the NAC/MC uses these minutes as a source document to make changes to AASMAN-1 in the event of USAF active duty commitments and mission requirements forgoing attendance at NATCON.

11.8.2. Responsibilities During NATCON. The National Director of Information Management will record the minutes of the joint sessions, AAS business sessions and Board of Directors meetings. The National Parliamentarian will assist this effort by also taking notes on the proceedings, as time and work schedule allow. After each session, the National Director of Information Management will turn his or her hand-written notes over to the National Business Chair who will give these notes to the National Parliamentarian. The National Parliamentarian will retain the notes he or she has taken to assist in preparing the minutes after NATCON. The National Director of Information Management must appoint a representative to record the minutes of any session he or she can not attend or can not take the minutes at. See also AASMAN-1, para 5.5.3.1.

11.8.3. Inclusions in Minutes. Each set of minutes for an individual session will also contain the attendance, copies of resolutions presented, vote tallies if done by roll call, proxies, and any qualifying memoranda for the session.

11.8.4. Format. Minutes and all correspondence relating to the minutes must be prepared IAW AFMAN 33-326.

Chapter 12—Area Level Operations

12.1. Description. There will be a sufficient number of area HQs to maintain an efficient chain of command between AAS squadrons and National HQ.

12.2. Squadron Reassignment. Reassignment of an AAS squadron to another AAS area within an AFROTC region may be initiated by the National Commander, an area commander, or squadron commander. The National Commander may make the reassignment if the squadron commander and both the gaining and losing area commanders concur. Squadrons or areas initiating the reassignment will petition the National Commander to make the change and he or she will make the final decision. The National Commander will establish the effective date of the reassignment. Proposed reassignments that do not have the concurrence of all the parties concerned are referred to the Board of Directors for a decision.

12.3. Area HQ Selection. The Area HQ will be located by a majority vote of the squadrons in the area and may be rotated to another squadron in the area by a majority vote. An area HQ may be changed from its location during the term of office by a two-thirds vote of the squadrons in the area. Bids for area HQ are for a one-year period. A squadron may host area HQ for a maximum of two consecutive years with the option to extend beyond the second year if no other squadron bids for the HQ. If there are no bids for area HQ and the present area HQ desires to relinquish command, National HQ will reassign the area HQ to another squadron in that area. The present area HQ will remain in command until National HQ makes the reassignment decision and command has been officially transferred. All area HQs must establish a suspense date for area HQ bids.

12.3.1. Area HQ Selection Tie. In the event of a tie, the current Area Commander carries the tie-breaking vote. In the case of a tie vote with the current Area Headquarters running for re-election, the tie-breaking vote will be determined by the AAS National Commander (or NHQ representative attending that specific ARCON) instead of the current Area Commander due to the conflict of interest issue.

12.4. Staff. Area HQs are commanded by AAS C/Colonels. The suggested area staff is:

- Vice Commander (CV) AAS C/Lt Colonel
- Parlimentarian (ARPAR) AAS C/Major
- Director of Operations (DO) AAS C/Major
- Director of Information Management (IM) AAS C/Major
- Director of Financial Management (FM) AAS C/Major
- Director of Public Affairs (PA) AAS C/Major
- Director of Training (DT) AAS C/Major
- Director of Support (DS) AAS C/Major

12.4.1. Officer Selection. The area elects the host squadron and the proposed commander from that squadron assumes command after the last NATCON business session. The newly elected area commander selects his/her own staff. See AASMAN-1, para 7.2.3, for the duties of new area commanders at NATCON. The corps duties of each area commander are subject to the provisions of AASMAN-1, Attachment 8. See also AASMAN-1, para 12.4.4.
12.4.2. AASSWF2 - Officer Roster. AASSWF2 is used by the Area Director of Information Management to report the unit officer roster to the Executive Management Center twice a year, NLT 31 August and 31 January. Advisors must list name, grade, and signature. Special orders or other documents do not fulfill the requirement of this form. Any changes in officer personnel during the HQ’s term of office will be reported to the Executive Management Center and National HQ within 10 days using the same form.

12.4.3. Special Positions. AAS commanders and legislative bodies may create new positions and duties they deem necessary for the efficient operation of their HQ, but may not take any action inconsistent with the AAS Constitution. Creation of special positions will be noted on the AASSWF2.

12.4.4. Change of Command. The change of command for the area commander will be before a general assembly of the area. An oath of office with effective dates will be administered by the outgoing commander. See also AASMAN-1, para 12.4.1.

12.4.5. Vacancies. The area commander will fill vacancies in the HQ staff. In the event the area commander position becomes vacant prior to expiration of the term, the vice commander will fill the position until the area squadrons complete action to officially staff the position, IAW the area manual.

12.4.6. Dismissal. The area commander will report all dismissals of any area officers and the reasons therein to the National HQ NLT 10 days after the effective date of the dismissal.

12.5. HQ Not in Good Standing. See AASMAN-1, para 7.11.
12.6. HQ Advisor. See AASMAN-1, Attachment 8.
12.7. Manuals and Supplements. Area and squadron commanders may issue manuals or supplements to higher HQ manuals that will govern their units, provided these publications do not conflict with AASMAN-1. These publications must clearly indicate the issuing agency and list that units are subject to its provisions.

12.7.1. Format. All publications must be as similar to AASMAN-1 as unit facilities allow.

12.7.2. Information Copies. The issuing unit will furnish an information copy of all such publications to all higher HQs in the issuing unit’s chain of command.

12.8. Discipline. For fine regulations, see para 14.3.

12.8.1. Failure to Perform Duties. If the Area Commander observes apathy and disinterest in AAS affairs on the part of any squadron, as demonstrated by failure to perform legally prescribed duties, the Area Commander will issue an official warning giving the offending unit 30 days to correct the situation and report on all corrective actions to the Area Commander.

12.8.2. Recommended Action. If the squadron fails to achieve a satisfactory level of performance, the Area Commander will make a full report to the National Vice Commander and may recommend any punishment up to and including suspension of the squadron’s charter.
12.8.3. National Vice Commander. Upon receipt of such a report, the National Vice Commander will investigate the situation and make a written recommendation to the Board of Directors on remedial action. The Board must reply in writing to the recommendation NLT 15 days after receiving the National Vice Commander’s report. Upon a majority of the Board approving the recommendation, the National Vice Commander will immediately implement the action.

12.8.4. Other Disciplinary Powers. See AASMAN-1, para 7.4, for national disciplinary powers and AASMAN-1, para 5.5.1.6, for the executive authority of the National Commander.

12.9. Area Newsletters. Area Commanders are required to publish at least two area newsletters during the academic year. National HQ customarily sends information to the area HQ that must be disseminated to the squadron level and may be included in these newsletters. Publication of a newsletter does not relieve the unit of its responsibilities IAW AASMAN-1, para 13.17. The issuing unit will furnish an information copy of all these publications to all higher HQs in the issuing unit’s chain of command and to the Executive Management Center.

12.10. Installation Management. Area HQs will maintain office space, supplies, and equipment necessary for the effective administration of the area. All equipment and unused supplies purchased for the area with AAS funds will be transferred with the rotation of the HQ, unless the cost of transportation exceeds the value of the item to be transferred.

12.11. Finance.

12.11.1. Funds Transfer. The outgoing area staff will transfer all funds to the new area staff. See also AASMAN-1, paras 5.5.4.4 and 14.5.2.

12.11.2. Financial Report. Each area HQ will submit a finance report covering the period 1 September to 31 December of the current academic year to the Executive Management Center NLT 30 January (send an information copy to National HQ). List all receipts and disbursements recorded during the period. See also AASMAN-1, para 12.11.3.

12.11.3. Area Budget. Once each year area HQ will submit copies of their operating budget to the EMC. This budget is due NLT 30 November each year and will be presented at the ARCON for that area to the general assembly of the area. Send one copy of the report to National HQ. The report must be typed and will list all anticipated revenues and expenses of the area HQ during the period. This requirement may be combined with the report mandated by AASMAN-1, para 12.11.2.

12.11.4. Dues/Assessments/Receipts. Area dues or assessments, finances of the AAS, and preparation of budgets according to the Planning Programming Budgeting System (PPBS) are explained in AASMAN-1, Chapter 15. Area HQs must acknowledge receipt of funds to the sending agency. Area dues are not to exceed 25% of the AAS renewal rate for the current academic year.

12.12. Roundtable Evaluations. Roundtable evaluations conducted on the area level will be initiated by the Area Commander and conducted by the area vice commander and his or her appointed representatives. All areas may evaluate each squadron only once each year and that evaluation must be done at the area conclave. See also AASMAN-1, Attachment 5, for the Roundtable Evaluation system.

12.12.1. Vice Commander. This officer conducts inspections of all units. The Vice Commander is also responsible for planning the ARCON Roundtable Evaluations, reporting the plans to the National Vice Commander, and ensuring all Area Staff members are prepared in accordance with Attachment 5 of the AASMAN. See AASMAN-1, paras 12.12 and 12.20.

12.12.2. Special Interest Items. The vice commander must inform all squadron commanders of all special interest items which will be discussed or evaluated during the Roundtable.

12.12.3. Reports. Area HQ will send the Roundtable Evaluation report to each unit NLT 28 days after the evaluation. Send courtesy copies to National HQ and the respective AFROTC region commander.

12.12.4. Collocated SW Units. Area evaluation teams may evaluate collocated SW units at the request of the SW Regional President.

12.13. Staff Duties. In addition to the duties specified in AASMAN-1, Chapter 4, area officers are responsible for the duties listed:

12.13.1.1. Interim Reports. See AASMAN-1, para 7.8.

12.13.1.2. Decorum. Each area commander is responsible for monitoring the conduct of the AAS personnel from his or her area attending all conclaves.

12.13.1.3. Board of Directors. See AASMAN-1, Chapter 7.

12.13.1.5. Squadron Addresses. Twice each year Area Commanders will compile a current listing of Squadron Commanders in their area to include their individual e-mail addresses. This list is due via e-mail to the AAS National HQ and EMC on 1 Oct and 1 Feb. Throughout the year, Area Commanders will forward individual changes to this list as they occur to the AAS National HQ and EMC.

12.13.2. Vice Commander. This officer conducts inspections of all units. See AASMAN-1, paras 12.12 and 12.20.

Squadron commanders should nominate one member from their Sq for the job. Other interested members may also apply.

12.13.5.1. The Area Parliamentarian holds the grade of AAS C/Major with the following duties:

12.13.5.1.1. Taking attendance at Joint and AAS ARCON Business Sessions as well as calculating quorum for the business session based on collected attendance to include the distribution and processing of ARCON proxy vote forms. 12.14. Impeachment. Impeachment of the Area Commander is a function of the squadrons in the area. If at least three squadrons in the area petition the National Commander, National HQ will conduct a mail/e-mail poll of impeachment approval unless the petitions are presented directly to the area in a conclave session. Squadrons will reply by mail/e-mail within 20 calendar days of receiving the ballot. Area Commanders may be replaced by the PAS, with the concurrence of the National Commander, when a change in the Area Commander’s cadet status has occurred or is considered.

12.15. Forms.

12.15.1. Area HQ Distribution. The AAS National Website is the primary means of receiving national forms. If the national website is not accessible, the EMC will provide sufficient copies of these forms.

12.15.2. Establishing Area Forms. See AASMAN-1, paras 17.15 and 17.16.

12.15.3. Copy Distribution to Area HQ. Squadrons must send copies of Google Drive AASSWF1 and AASSWF2 to area HQ. Squadrons must correspond with National HQ through their area HQ (see AASMAN-1, para 17.2).

12.16. Operations/Public Affairs (DO/PA) Reports. PAs are responsible for recording unit history, with their Area PA. Area PAs will pass on a consolidated report, as needed, to the National PA for inclusion in national publications or the Arnold Air Letter. In order to facilitate the changing of publication dates for each year’s Arnold Air Letter and the National Commander’s Interim Report, the suspense date for these Area level reports are at the discretion of the National HQ staff.

12.17. Standardized Monthly Report (SMR). At the discretion and guidance of the National Commander, once a month each squadron commander will submit a report digitally via the National Website. National and Area HQ has the ability to request additional items not asked for in the report such as pictures or articles, and to set the suspense date each month.

12.18. Squadron History Update. All squadrons will submit an update of the unit history for the current year to area HQ at NATCON. The history will cover the period from the last history report and be a maximum of three typed pages and may include photographs. Also, include a list of squadron members (and their AS level) at the close of the year and a list of squadron officers and any HQs hosted during the year. In addition, the squadron will send a copy of the report to Executive Management Center.

12.19. Self-Inspections and Discrepancy Tracking.

12.19.1. Self-Inspections. Area HQ will ensure all units conduct self-inspections to check compliance with AASMAN-1 and other directives. Cross-inspection of staffs (e.g. PA does DO) will ensure all taskings are on track and an objective evaluation is performed.

12.19.2. Discrepancy Tracking. By going through this process all units can fix and prevent discrepancies.
12.19.2.1. In all areas where a problem is found in a unit, the discrepancy must be solved by positive action. Establish who is responsible and ensure that person determines the who, what, where, when, and how of solving the problem. Then, determine how best to prevent the discrepancy from recurring. Higher HQs must always follow up on the corrective action for every discrepancy until the loop is closed and the problem solved.

12.19.2.2. Each unit must design a form to track the progress of fixing each problem. Include on the form: the actual discrepancy; the date found, who found it, and the various dates of follow-up action; the actual corrective actions and estimated completion date of those actions; the office of primary responsibility for the discrepancy; and a place to document periodic review of the discrepancies to ensure they don’t recur.

12.20. Introductory Reports and Reporting Limitations.

12.20.1. Introductory Reports. In addition to the two interim reports required by AASMAN-1, para 7.8, each Area Commander must submit to National HQ NLT 1 May of each year an introductory report covering the status of the area. Contents are at the discretion of the Area Commander. This report should be sent in a Microsoft Word document format and transmitted via e-mail if possible.

12.20.2. Reporting Limitations. Taken in total, the two Area Commander interim reports (one oral and one written) required by AASMAN-1, para 7.8, and the Area Commander introductory report required by AASMAN-1, para 0, are the only regularly required reports area HQs must submit to National HQ. Any additional regularly required reports may only be instituted by National HQ with the approval of the Board of Directors. The written reports should be sent in a Microsoft Word document format and transmitted via e-mail if possible.
Chapter 13—Squadron Operations

Section 13A—AASMAN-1 Regulations

13.1. Definition. The local AAS unit on each campus is known as a squadron. Squadrons may be named after famous persons or events in history.

13.2. Good Standing. A squadron is in good standing on a national level when its charter is active and all active members have paid all national dues to the Executive Management Center. To remain in good standing, the squadron must maintain an active membership of at least six members or one-sixth the proportion of active members to cadets in its affiliated Cadet Training Wing who meet the provisions of AASMAN-1, paras 2.2.4, 10.7.3, and 11.5.8.

13.3. AAS Continuity. The members of the AAS are usually active in the Society for no more than three and a half years. This creates the difficulty of maintaining continuity of thought and knowledge in the conduct of AAS business. Only by maintaining a continuing source of well-trained members can this problem be overcome. To that end, each commander must keep all members of his or her command fully informed of all actions of the Society, both in the unit and on an area and national level.

13.3.1. Standardization. Units must standardize and record all organizational procedures to provide a written reference on the operation of the unit.

13.3.2. Non-Senior Officers. Select as many cadets for squadron positions as possible who will be non-senior cadets during their term of office. This provides a readily available base of corporate knowledge for the unit in the succeeding year. Additionally, send as many non-senior members as possible to all conclaves to spread knowledge of the Society around the unit.

13.4. Staff. Each squadron is commanded by an AAS C/Major. The recommended squadron staff includes:

- Deputy Commander (CD) AAS C/Captain
- Operations Officer (DO) AAS C/1st Lt
- Information Management Officer (IM) AAS C/1st Lt
- Financial Management Officer (FM) AAS C/1st Lt
- Public Affairs Officer (PA) AAS C/1st Lt
- AFA/SW Liaison Officer AAS C/1st Lt
- Candidate Training Officer (DT) AAS C/1st Lt
- Support Officer (DS) AAS C/1st Lt

13.4.1. Officer Selection. The squadron commander will be elected by the members of each squadron no later than two weeks prior to NATCON and IAW the bylaws of the unit. All other officers may be appointed by the squadron commander or elected by the squadron membership IAW the unit bylaws. If unit bylaws call for staff elections at the end of the fall or spring semester, then newly elected officers shall assume their duties NLT semester completions and no earlier than three weeks prior to semester completion.

13.4.2. Officer Rosters. AASSWF2 is used by the squadron Information Management Officer to report the unit officer roster to National HQ, the Executive Management Center, and each appropriate intermediate HQ. The form is submitted twice a year, due
NLT 31 August and 31 January of each year. Special orders may not be sent in lieu of the AASSWF2. Squadron advisors must list name and grade and sign the form. The squadron must submit any change to the squadron staff NLT 10 days after the effective date of the change using a new AASSWF2, and submit IAW the provisions listed above.

13.4.3. Special Positions. Any AAS squadron commander may create any position they deem necessary for the efficient operation of their unit, provided the action is consistent with all governing directives of the Society. Report any new position by adding the title and office-holder on the AASSWF2 when submitted.

13.4.4. Multiple Offices Held By a Member. See AASMAN-1, para 4.9.

13.4.5. Vacancies. If the squadron commander position is vacated for any reason, the deputy commander will assume command until the unit acts to fill the position for the remainder of the term. Further succession to command will be made in the order listed in AASMAN-1, para 13.4.

13.4.6. Dismissals. The squadron commander may dismiss any squadron officer. The PAS may ask the squadron to elect a new commander when the academic status of the incumbent is in question. The squadron commander will report any dismissal and the reasons thereof to the Area Commander and appropriate intermediate HQs NLT 10 days after the effective date of the dismissal.

13.5. Membership. See AASMAN-1, Chapter 2 and para 8.4.

13.6. Advisor. See AASMAN-1, Attachment 8.

13.7. Governing Publications. Each squadron will have a governing publication (e.g. constitution, bylaws, manual, or supplement). Squadron commanders may issue supplements to higher HQ publications to govern their units, provided these publications do not conflict with or duplicate in any way with higher HQ publications. These local publications must clearly indicate the issuing unit. See also AASMAN-1, para 13.12.1.

13.7.1. Format. These publications must be as similar in format to AASMAN-1 as local facilities allow.

13.7.2. Information Copies. The issuing unit must send an information copy of all such publications to area HQ and other intermediate HQs, if applicable.

13.8. Finance. The squadron must acknowledge to any sending agency receipt of funds. See also AASMAN-1, Chapter 14, for a description of the AAS financial system.

13.9. Discipline.

13.9.1. Squadron. For fine regulations, see AASMAN-1, para 14.3.

13.9.2. Area. See AASMAN-1, paras 12.8 and 14.3.

13.9.3. National. See AASMAN-1, paras 5.5.1.6, 7.4, and 14.3.

13.10. Squadron Name Change. After the initial charter of a squadron, no change of the squadron name is authorized unless approved by the process shown below.

13.10.1. Initial Request. The Squadron sends a request to the National Commander, routing the request through the chain of command. The request must include comprehensive biography of both the current and proposed Squadron namesakes and documented permission to use the proposed namesake’s name if still living. If the National Commander concurs with the request, he/she forwards the request to the next meeting of the Executive Board of Directors.

13.10.2. Executive Board of Directors Action. The Executive Board of Directors may concur with or reject the request. National HQ notifies petitioning squadron, the appropriate Area Commander, and the EMC of the decision.

13.10.3. Petitioner Withdrawal of Request. The petitioning unit may withdraw its request at any time by notifying the National Business Chairperson.

13.10.4. Associated Expenses. The unit requesting the name change will bear all costs associated with the unit name change.

13.11. Installation Management. This function is left to the discretion of the squadron commander or designated representative.

13.12. Liaison With School Administration. The AAS recommends close contact with the administration of the host university. In many cases, considerable interest, advice, and support are available from the institution.

13.12.1. Conflicts With School Rules. If the school has rules, which conflict with AAS regulations, the AAS regulations will be waived upon application for a waiver sent through AAS command channels to National HQ. See also AASMAN-1, paras 3.1 and 13.7.

13.12.2. Professor of Aerospace Studies (PAS) Cooperation. Units should seek the help of the PAS in initiating new contacts with school administrators.

13.13. Inspections. Squadrons are generally inspected at least once a year by the area HQ or designated representative of that HQ (see AASMAN-1, paras 12.12 and 12.20).

13.14. Staff Duties. In addition to the general duties specified in AASMAN-1, Chapter 4, the squadron staff is also responsible for the duties listed below.

13.14.1. Commander.

13.14.1.1. Cadet Wing Position. The cadet wing duties of each squadron commander are subject to the provisions of AASMAN-1, Attachment 8.

13.14.2. Deputy Commander.

13.14.2.1. The deputy commander is a member of the area AFROTC affairs committee IAW AASMAN-1, para 8.6.1.

13.14.2.2. The deputy commander will aggressively promote the activation and operation of a local SW Chapter and will assign a member of the squadron as AAS liaison to the Joint Relations Committee see AASMAN-1, para 8.5.1.

13.14.3. Public Affairs Officer.
13.14.3.1. The public affairs officer will distribute the Arnold Air Letter. Request additional copies in writing, coordinated through Area HQ, explaining the need for special distribution. See also AASMAN-1, para 12.13.4.2.

13.14.3.2. Squadron History Update. See AASMAN-1, para 12.18.

13.15. AAS Forms (AASF). Squadrons are responsible for the submission of all AAS forms applicable from AASMAN-1, para 17.15.

13.16. AAS Manual Copies. Copies of the AAS/SW Manuals may be found on the AAS/SW National Website or through the chain of command.

13.17. Squadron Project Reports. Each squadron public affairs officer must submit project reports by dates determined by each area HQ and must submit at least two reports each academic year. The reports will be at least two double-spaced, typed pages. In the report, stress how the project was accomplished and who was involved. Each project report must be accompanied by a photo or graphic. Each squadron will send the original of each report, with photo or graphic, to their area HQ and (if applicable) other intermediate HQs. Area HQ will then include the information and photo or graphic in the area’s PA report to be sent to National HQ. See also AASMAN-1, para 12.16.

13.18. Impeachment. Impeachment of squadron commanders is a function of the individual squadrons and is decided by a two-thirds vote of the active members of the squadron. Notify National and area HQs of the impeachment and the causes and results within 10 days.

13.19. New Squadron Activation. The following provisions have been established for the activation of new squadrons at AFROTC detachments and the USAFA.

13.19.1. Application. Any group of cadets interested in forming an active squadron may write or e-mail to the Executive Management Center, and EMC will forward the letter to National HQ. The interested squadron will receive an AASSWF4 from EMC, the National HQ, or respective Area HQ.

13.19.2. Activation. A complete activation package includes an AASSWF4: Squadron Re/Activation Worksheet, a letter of recommendation from the Squadron Advisor, a copy of the Squadron’s By-Laws, and Google Drive AASSWF1: Membership Roster. EMC will review the application and notify the group and PAS concerned of its decision. If the application is denied, no further action will be taken. If the application is accepted, the Executive Management Center will send any relevant documentation.

13.19.3. Acceptance and Charter. The applicant group will submit initiations fees and national dues on the National Website for a minimum of six charter members. Upon receipt of these funds, the Executive Management Center will forward basic membership equipment to the new squadron. If applicable, the squadron charter will be prepared and sent to the squadron, usually within 60 days. If possible and applicable, the Area Commander concerned will present the new charter at a suitable ceremony. Area Commanders who plan to perform this ceremony should notify the Executive Management Center of their intention ASAP after receipt of the letter of acknowledgment. The Executive Management Center will send the new squadron charter to the Area Commander for presentation. See AASMAN-1, para 13.19.1
13.20. Inactivation of Units. Squadrons desiring to become inactive may do so by routing a request to the area HQ, who will in turn advise the Executive Management Center, National HQ, and the National Administrative Consultants of the area HQ position on the request within 10 days.

13.20.1. Records. Send unit records of national interest to EMC.

13.20.2. Funds. Send squadron funds to the Executive Management Center for deposit in the Consolidated Programs Fund (CPF). Exception: when all former members of an inactivating unit duly transfer their membership under provisions of AASMAN-1, paras 2.4 and 2.25 to the same gaining squadron, the residual funds of the inactivate unit may be transferred to the gaining squadron’s accounts instead of the CPF.

13.21. Reactivation of Units. Inactive squadrons desiring to reactivate must contact the area HQ which will reply within 10 days, advising the Executive Management Center of the area HQ concurrence with the request (courtesy copies must go to National HQ, the JAA President, and the National Administrative Consultants). The reactivating squadron will follow the same process as an activating squadron. Appropriate equipment and reactivation fees will be paid by the squadron.

13.22. Voting Privileges of Members. All active AAS members have a voice and one vote in any meeting of their squadron, regardless of their position within the Society.

13.23. Optional Unit Structure.

13.23.1. Policy. AAS policy strongly encourages all squadrons to consider hosting higher HQs of all types. However, recognizing the variation in the average size of AAS squadrons, the Society has provided an optional unit structure for those squadrons that believe they are too small to support both full squadron operations and all of the hosted HQ requirements as well.

13.23.2. Approval Procedure. AAS squadrons desiring to host or already hosting a higher HQ may institute this optional structure by specific petition to and gaining the written approval of the National Commander except for the proposed or existing National HQ host squadron, which must petition and gain the approval of the Executive Director.

13.23.3. Limitations. This optional squadron structure applies only while the unit actually hosts a higher HQ, must be renewed each AY if succeeding higher HQs are hosted by the same unit, and is automatically terminated when the unit’s higher HQ host duties end.

13.23.4. Minimum Requirements. Squadrons operating under this provision must:

13.23.4.1. Have a commander.

13.23.4.2. Remain in good standing IAW AASMAN-1, para 13.2.

13.23.4.3. Maintain an effective candidate training program IAW all applicable provisions of AASMAN-1.

13.23.4.4. Have sufficient staff, as determined by the squadron commander, to support all administrative, financial, reporting, historical, and continuity requirements of AASMAN-1 which are deemed necessary by mutual agreement of all AAS higher HQs in the squadron’s chain of command and the squadron commander.

13.23.4.5. Comply with AASMAN-1, para 4.9, if applicable.

13.23.5. Additional Activities. Squadrons operating under this option may undertake additional activities solely at the discretion of the squadron commander.

Section 13B—Local Operating Procedures

13.24. General. Units may publish local and unique unit operating procedures as a supplement to this chapter in their Squadron By-Laws. The title of this document will indicate the unit concerned, for example “Iven C. Kincheloe, Jr. Squadron Local Operating Procedures.” Pages should be numbered.

13.25. Limitations. Such procedures will not duplicate, alter, or amend the provisions of AASMAN-1. Any local operating procedure will comply with area and national policy and align with the spirit of the AAS National Constitution. See also AASMAN-1, para 13.7.

13.26. Approval. Establishing and amending local operating procedures must be approved by a two-thirds majority of the unit. Forward one copy of local operating procedures to the applicable area HQ.
Chapter 14—Financial Operations

14.1. Sources of Revenue and Account Management. AAS is a non-profit self-supporting organization, which uses fees, dues, donations, and assistance from sponsor organizations to operate. All AAS units including higher HQs will have at least two signatories on each financial account. One signatory must be the unit commander, while the other may be the unit director of financial management/financial management officer or another unit staff officer. This provision does not require two-signature checks.

14.2. General Financial Policy.

14.2.1. Fiscal Year. The fiscal year of AAS begins on 1 September and ends on 31 August.

14.2.2. Contracts.

14.2.2.1. National HQ, EMC. No person may enter into any contract or agreement that binds the National HQ, EMC, or National Publications without the express permission of the National Commander and Executive Director.

14.2.2.2. NATCON HQ. No person(s) will enter into any contract or other agreement that binds the NATCON HQ in excess of its allotted funds without the expressed permission of the Board of Directors.

14.2.2.3. Units. No person may enter into any contract or agreement that binds a unit of AAS without the permission of the commander of the unit. The term “unit” includes squadrons and all elected HQs.

14.2.2.4. Credit. Contracts in the form of credit cards or any other open credit agreement written in the name of AAS or a unit or HQ thereof, are expressly forbidden. This provision does not apply to those agreements (e.g. utilities, conclave hotels) which are for specific purposes and are made with non-bank, commercial activities.

14.2.2.5. Limitations. Any contract or agreement that may involve national operating or reserve funds can be executed or approved only by the Executive Director. See AASMAN-1, paras, 10.12 and 11.1.5.

14.2.2.6. Bidding. Competitive bids will normally be solicited before any AAS contract is awarded; if bids are not solicited, units must be prepared to justify their actions. Credit agreements are prohibited IAW AASMAN-1, para14.2.2.4. Rental car agreements not executed IAW AASMAN-1, para 14.2.3.3, are similarly prohibited.

14.2.3. Travel.

14.2.3.1. Government Transportation. Whenever possible, AAS will utilize government transportation, provided such use is IAW USAF policy.

14.2.3.2. Commercial Transportation. No member, representative, or employee of AAS is authorized other than coach class commercial air transport at the expense of the Society unless necessary for the successful accomplishment of a project essential to the fulfillment of the mission of AAS. The commander of the unit authorizing the allocation makes any decisions on the necessities of this transport.
14.2.3.3. Rental Vehicles. With the exception of NATCON HQ and the various ARCON HQs, agreements between any AAS member, unit, or HQ and a rental vehicle company for the purpose of an AAS member operating the rental vehicle are prohibited. This does not apply to commercial lease agreements or other arrangements where the carrier incurs liability.

14.3. Fines.

14.3.1. Authority. A squadron has the power to fine individual squadron members. Each area HQ has the authority to fine its units and members. National HQ has the power to fine any lower command level or its members.

14.3.2. Limitations. All fineable offenses must be listed in the governing unit’s governing publications. No fine on an AAS unit or member may exceed $30.00. Any fine on a bad or bounced check may not exceed $20.00. Replacement for a bad or bounced check must be made with a money order or cashier’s check and include the fined amount. Fines and penalty charges are not authorized to be included in the operating accounts of the levying HQ, will not be applied against a budget deficit of the levying HQ, or be used for over-budget expenditures of the levying HQ.

14.3.3. Reporting. National HQ must report to the Executive Director for special account identification any fines and penalty charges levied by National HQ under the provisions of AASMAN-1, paras 5.5.1.6 and 7.4, or any subsequent authority.

14.4. Squadron Revenue.

14.4.1. Dues. Each squadron decides the amount of local dues and the collection process. Units must exercise restraint in setting the amount of dues to prevent turning away potential members because of unnecessarily high membership costs. Units may not charge honorary members any dues or fees.

14.4.2. Fund-Raising Projects. Squadrons normally perform a variety of fund-raisers during the year ranging from bake sales to service agreements with the host institution. Units must consult applicable USAF and AFROTC directives concerning the propriety of their fund-raising activities and refrain from any that are prohibited.

14.4.3. Host Institution Assistance. Occasionally, the host academic institution will provide logistical support to AAS, including area and national HQs.

14.5. Area Revenue.

14.5.1. Dues. Area dues or assessments are intended to cover the HQ’s operating costs, complemented by carryovers from the previous HQ, if applicable. Dues are established on a per person rate. Squadrons may pay the dues for their members out of unit funds. Area dues are not to exceed 25% of the AAS renewal rate for the current academic year.

14.5.2. Funds Transfer. An outgoing area HQ must transfer any remaining funds to the new area HQ. In addition, the outgoing Area Commander will sign a financial statement recording the amount of money presented to the incoming Area Commander, who will also sign this statement acknowledging receipt of the funds. Maintain a copy of this signed financial statement at the area HQ and send a copy to the National Director of Financial Management. As a minimum, the outgoing HQ must transfer $90.00 plus an additional $6.00 per squadron in the area NLT the last business session of NATCON. Any remaining funds must be transferred NLT five weeks after NATCON. All area HQs must budget for this transfer in their fiscal planning. See also AASMAN-1, paras 5.5.4.4 and 0.

14.6.1. Dues. The annual national dues per active member of AAS are established by vote of the National Conclave. The standard fee includes the cost of cadet membership in the AFA, usually 50 percent of standard AFA membership dues. See AASMAN-1, para 2.24, for renewal procedures. No change in annual dues may be made without the recommendation of the Executive Director and subsequent review by the Board of Trustees. A change in dues can not take effect until the fiscal year after receiving approval from the Board of Directors or NATCON general assembly.

14.6.2. Initiation Fees. Each active initiate must pay a fee, which covers the costs of the basic membership equipment for each member (card, ribbon, membership certificate). The initiation fee is shown on Google Drive AASSWF1. One year’s dues must be paid at the same time as the initiation fee is remitted. Fees may be adjusted by the Board of Directors upon recommendation of the Executive Director.

14.7. National-Level Budgets.

14.7.1. National Budget. The Board of Directors will adopt an annual budget for all expenditures of AAS funds. This budget may be changed only by coordination with the National Finance Committee. The Executive Director will prepare the budget prior to the fall meeting of the Board of Directors and will coordinate it with the National Director of Financial Management. The Executive Director will then submit this budget to the Board of Directors for adoption. National budgets will be established IAW the Planning Programming and Budgeting System (PPBS) discussed in AASMAN-1, para 14.10.

14.7.2. National HQ Operating Budget. Prior to the fall Board of Directors meeting, the National Director of Financial Management will prepare a proposed operating budget for the academic year. The budget will plan National HQ operations within the total amount of authorized funds established in the current five-year program reported by the Executive Director at the last Fall Executive Board Meeting and described in the budget specified in AASMAN-1, para 14.16.1. Approval of an over-budget authorization requires a majority vote of the National Finance Committee and concurrence of the Executive Director and National Commander. The National Director of Financial Management will operate the National HQ on the funds authorized by the National Finance Committee plus donations from the host academic institution or other sponsor(s).

14.8. NATCON HQ Budget. See AASMAN-1, paras 7.5.4.3, and, 7.5.6.

14.9. Special Headquarters/Agencies Budgets. All OICs of special projects, special HQ commanders, and other officers (generally, those agencies and positions under the jurisdiction of AASMAN-1, Chapter 8) will submit a PPBS-designed budget of planned expenses to the National Director of Financial Management and the Executive Director NLT 1 August of each year. See also AASMAN-1, para 7.5.7.

14.10. Planning Programming Budgeting System (PPBS). PPBS is an accounting process established to plan and program the allocation of funds at all AAS agencies that receive allocations from the national budget. The directors of financial management of all area and national level HQs and special project OICs must submit their budget requests in the format shown below.

14.10.1. PPBS Budget Report.

14.10.1.1. Section I. The who, what, when, where, why, and how of the budget. This includes what should be known about the budget, what the plans for the year are, the reasons for those plans, a justification of the methods used, and how much money is needed. The quality of this section bears much weight in the final allocation given to the submitting agency.

14.10.1.2. Section II.

14.10.1.2.1. Estimated revenue in an income statement format.

14.10.1.2.2. Estimated expenses in an income statement format.

14.10.1.3. Section III. A detailed report of how expenses were projected.

14.10.2. Supporting Documents. Other documents may be submitted with the PPBS report as deemed necessary by the originating agency.

14.11. National Finance Committee. In addition to the duties listed in AASMAN-1, para 8.7, the National Finance Committee reviews each Area Commander’s proposed budget and determines which expenses are authorized and may disallow some planned expenditures in the proposed budget which are planned to be passed on to the area members in the form of dues.

14.12. National AAS Funds Management. Deposit, accounting, and investment of national funds are the responsibility of the Executive Director. AAS national financial records are maintained at the Executive Management Center. The Executive Director will prepare a financial report for delivery to the Board of Directors. This report will be the basis for financial reporting to the NATCON by the National Director of Financial Management. The Executive Director will submit the national financial records to a certified public accountant for review no less than once per year. The Executive Director will provide copies of the review report to each member of the Board of Trustees.

14.13.2. Other Tax Liability. AAS is not exempt from the Federal Insurance Contribution Act (FICA) and Federal Withholding Tax (FITW) for any employees of the Society, federal excise taxes, state sales or use taxes, or any other similar taxes. However, educational institutions are often exempt from state sales and use taxes and AAS units whose bills are paid by their schools may be entitled to some exemptions.
14.13.3. IRS Reports Required. Within 90 days of the end of the fiscal year each 31 Aug, the Executive Management Center submits an IRS Form 990, Return of Organizations Exempt from Income Tax. The return includes all squadrons, elected and special HQs, and SW. Additionally, each May, the Executive Management Center submits an updated report of subordinate organizations to the IRS to comply with IRB Number 26, dated 30 June 1980. Additions, deletions, and address or name changes of squadrons and chapters are included in this report.

14.13.4. Squadron Reports.

14.13.4.1. Squadrons, including those hosting HQs, will not file IRS reports unless annual income is $25,000 or more.

14.13.4.2. Any squadron with revenue of $20,000 or more in any reporting year (1 Sep to 31 Aug) must inform the Executive Management Center before participating in any projects that will add to that total.

14.13.5. Area Reports. See AASMAN-1, paras 12.11.2 and 12.11.3.

14.14. Elected HQs and Special HQs. No external reporting is required for elected HQs and special HQs.

14.15. Consolidated Programs Fund (CPF). The AAS/SW Consolidated Programs Fund (CPF) provides income from non-dues resources, but a tax on unit members is specifically prohibited. Such income will preclude dues increases and assist the Society and SW to fund approved programs and cope with inflation. The fund will be maintained and managed by the Board of Trustees. The base level of capitalization and subsequent increases in that base level are inviolable and can not be authorized for expenditure. Only the Board of Trustees may authorize specific amounts of yield generated from the base capital investments to be spent in support of specific financial plan line items. All funds, accounts, securities, or other investments that are part of the CPF will be held in the name of the AAS and SW.

14.16. Board of Trustees.

14.16.1. Description. The Board of Trustees consists of 3 to 15 elected members who have a management or financial background and an interest in AAS and SW. Former members of AAS and SW are not eligible for consideration for Board membership until three years after their active AAS or SW membership ends. The Chairman of the Board of the AFA, the Holm Center Commander, and the National Directors of Financial Management of both AAS and SW serve as ex-officio members of the Board.

14.16.2. Election. Trustees are elected by a majority vote of the joint NATCON General Assembly for life terms. For those trustees who can no longer participate in the Board of Trustees on a regular basis, the Board of Trustees may grant them “Trustee Emeritus” recognition.

14.16.3. Chairman of the Board and Financial Trustee. The Board of Trustees will elect its own Chairman of the Board and Financial Trustee.

14.16.4. Executive Director Role. The Executive Director will serve as Secretary of the Board. The secretary will notify the National Commander whenever a permanent trustee leaves the Board. The Executive Director will brief the NATCON General Assembly and the fall Board of Directors meeting on the status of the CPF. Departing Executive Directors may become permanent members of the Board if desired and approved by a majority vote of the NATCON General Assembly.

14.16.5. Meetings. The Board must meet no less than once a year, preferably in conjunction with the fall meeting of the Boards of Directors or at the NATCON.

Chapter 15—Awards and Honors

Section 15A—General Information

15.1. Award Establishment. All AAS units in good standing and the Executive Board are authorized to establish awards and honors on a national level if approved. In addition, individual areas and units may wish to establish awards on the area or local level to recognize those persons and units that have devoted time and effort to the professional objectives of AAS.

15.1.1. Approval Process.

15.1.1.1. Award resolutions may only be presented to the fall or spring Board of Directors meetings while in session. The Board may reject the award. If the Board supports the resolution, the Board tables the resolution to the next spring meeting of the Board. The National Director of Information Management will inform the sponsor of the award’s status and ensure the resolution is heard in the spring, if applicable.

15.1.1.2. At the next spring meeting of the Board of Directors, the Board reconsider the resolution. The Board may reject the award. If the Board again supports the resolution, the Board sends the resolution to the NATCON general assembly currently in session for final action. The National Director of Information Management will inform the sponsor of the award’s status and, if applicable, ensure the resolution is heard in a business session by coordinating with the National Business Chair.

15.1.1.3. The NATCON general assembly will approve or reject the award. If approved, the National Director of Information Management will forward the approved petition to the Executive Management Center and the National Administrative Consultant in charge of AASMAN-1 for implementation.

15.1.1.4. The award sponsor may withdraw the resolution at any time in the process and bears all costs associated with an award.

15.1.2. Presentation. AAS awards are normally presented at the national conclave. No award will be presented as a national award without having been approved IAW the process outlined in AASMAN-1, para 15.1.1. Awards given at the area level cannot bear the same name as the equivalent national award. The commander of any unit sponsoring an award may present the award or designate another individual to make the presentation.

15.1.3. Permanent Plaques. The Executive Management Center is responsible for procuring, engraving, and shipping the permanent plaques to NATCON HQ prior to the opening ceremonies. NATCON HQ will ensure that appropriate plaques are available for presentation at the proper ceremony or business session.

15.1.4. Removing an Award. To remove an AAS award from presentation, the Board of Directors or NATCON general assembly must pass a resolution stating the award has been permanently discontinued from use.

15.1.5. Sponsorship Contracts.
15.1.5.1. Documentation. Financial support commitments made by the units sponsoring awards will be documented by a formal agreement of award sponsorship.

15.1.5.2. Payment Collection. The Executive Management Center will write to each award sponsor, carefully delineating the sponsor’s financial responsibilities. This letter will itemize projected annual costs of each award IAW AASMAN-1, paras 15.1.1.4 and 15.1.3.

15.1.5.3. Forfeiture. Any unit that fails to meet its financial commitment of the signed agreement will lose all sponsorship rights to said award. Then the Executive Management Center in coordination with the National Commander may seek new sponsorship for the award from another AAS unit or corporate circles. In these cases, the category of the award must remain constant but the name of the award may be changed to reflect the new sponsor. If a new sponsor is not found the Executive Management Center will recommend the award be removed.

15.2. Award Nomination/Selection. Nominations for national awards will be made by Area Commanders unless otherwise indicated in each award description. Criteria for each award are listed in the award descriptions. Only active units in good standing are eligible for nomination. Squadrons will submit nominations via the AASF901, National Nomination for Award, online. Area HQ will then nominate one squadron per-award in their area to National HQ NLT six weeks prior to NATCON. Any additional information must be sent in electronic format to the Area CC who will then pass it up to National HQ, if they are nominated for the relating award. Prior to final selection of all award recipients, the National Awards Committee must contact the Executive Management Center to determine if any negative information relevant to the nominees is on file there (e.g., bad checks, administrative discrepancies).

15.3. Ribbons. All AAS ribbons may be ordered from the Executive Management Center using the national website. However, only those decorations officially recognized by AFROTC HQ may be worn. 15.14.1.1. Recruiting. This will be evaluated through the squadron’s number of active members at the beginning of the previous NATCON compared to the numbers of active members at the following NATCON. This number is also compared to the size of candidate classes held by the squadron and the amount of students at the host school.

AAS unit commanders will brief honorary members on the specifics of this paragraph upon initiation. See also AASMAN-1, para 2.23.4.

15.23. AAS Medals and Ribbons.

15.23.1. Program Objective and General Information.

15.23.1.1. The AAS awards program objective is to foster morale, incentive, and esprit de corps.

15.23.1.2. Decorations accomplish this objective (AASMAN-1, para 15.23.1.1) by promptly and publicly recognizing acts of outstanding achievement and meritorious service performed by individuals. To preserve their integrity, decorations are awarded only to recognize acts or services that are clearly and distinctly outstanding by nature and magnitude. These acts or services must place members’ performance significantly above that of their contemporaries and be of such importance that they cannot be appropriately recognized in any other way.

15.23.1.3. The National Awards Committee (AASMAN-1, para 8.8) reviews all recommendations for decorations falling under AASMAN-1, para 15.23.2. Similar bodies at lower command levels must review decoration submissions that fall under AASMAN-1, para 15.23.3.

15.23.1.4. Eligibility to receive a decoration:

15.23.1.4.1. Duty performance and level of responsibility should be the determining factors when considering an individual for a decoration. The act, achievement, or service should be worthy of recognition.

15.23.1.4.2. All AAS members are eligible for these decorations.

15.23.1.5. No decoration will be awarded or presented to any person whose entire service for the period covered by the decoration has not been honorable.

15.23.1.6. Any award for a distinguished act, achievement, or service may be revoked if facts, later determined, would have prevented original approval of the award.

15.23.1.7. The number of decorations that may be awarded to a person is not limited, but only one decoration is awarded for the same act, achievement, or period of service.

15.23.1.8. Exercise care not to undermine the integrity of the awards and decorations program. Restrict recommendations to the recognition of meritorious service or outstanding achievement that are incontestably exceptional and of a magnitude that clearly places an individual above his or her peers.

15.23.1.9. Base recommendations on specific projects, plans, programs, or actions that have been implemented with benefits to AAS positively ascertained or that have progressed to a point where results expected at some future date can be accurately predicted. Superior duty performance in and of itself does not constitute justification for a military decoration.

15.23.1.10. Generally, a recommendation for decoration based on meritorious service must be for a completed period of service.

15.23.1.11. An outstanding achievement decoration is rare and is intended to recognize a single specific act or accomplishment that is separate and distinct from regularly assigned duties. Outstanding achievement decorations are not intended to provide a means to authorize an additional decoration when the conditions for a completed period of service (IAW AASMAN-1, para 15.23.1.10) have not been fulfilled. An outstanding achievement normally covers a short period with definite beginning and ending dates. A recommendation for an outstanding achievement award should be submitted only when the achievement is of such magnitude that it cannot be recognized in any other way than by awarding a decoration and to delay such recognition until completion of the individual’s period of service would diminish the significance of the accomplishment. Awarding a decoration when recognizing a single achievement does not preclude an award for meritorious service at completion of the individual’s period of service. However, the recommending official must ensure the previously recognized achievement is not included in the justification for, or consideration of, the later award, since any mention of the achievement would constitute dual recognition that is in violation of AASMAN-1, para 15.23.1.7.

15.23.1.12. Any person, other than the person being recommended, having first-hand knowledge of the achievement or service believed to warrant awarding a decoration may recommend an award.

15.23.2. National Level Medal. This decoration is presented each year during NATCON to Active members of AAS for outstanding service to the national organization. The National Commander may present no more than five medals each year. Nominations for the award may be made about an active of any rank. The package consists of a one-page Letter of Recommendation, sent to the National HQ, written by any active member. The National Awards Committee selects the winners based on the significant contribution to the future of the society. In addition to the five medals given out by the National Commander, following a successful tenure as National Headquarters or Extended National Staff, each member is awarded the National Level Medal and is eligible to wear the respective ribbon and/or medal.

15.23.3. Area and Squadron Level Medals. These decorations are presented to active members for outstanding service to the Society at the specified command level. Criteria and selection are the responsibility of the awarding unit. Following a successful tenure as a squadron staff member or Area Headquarters member, they will be awarded the respective command level medal and is eligible to wear the respective ribbon and/or medal.

15.23.4. Authorized Decorations. See AASMAN-1, para 15.3.

15.24. Outstanding Squadron Advisor. AAS medallions are presented to AAS squadron advisors for their distinguished leadership in connection with AAS activities. This award may be presented only once to any individual. The award is presented at the opening ceremony of each NATCON. The award is an AAS Medallion for the outstanding advisor in the area. Each area HQ selects the outstanding squadron advisor in their area and must immediately forward the name and detachment number of the recipient to the National HQ. The Executive Management Center includes the names of these advisors in the NATCON brochure, prepares the awards, and provides the AAS/AFROTC Liaison Officer with a list of the names of the recipients. The Executive Director notifies the award recipients, provides them with general instructions on the presentation, and ensures they or an alternate will be at the conclave to receive the award. Selections are based on one letter not to exceed two pages submitted by the squadron commander and one letter not to exceed two pages submitted by a squadron member nominating their advisor. Send all letters of recommendation to the National HQ.

15.25. Outstanding Area Advisor. Each Area Commander may submit a two-page nomination to National HQ. Presentation is the same as the Outstanding Squadron Advisor award.
15.26. Lieutenant Theodore C. Marrs Plaques. At the conclusion of each NATCON, a member of the AAS and SW National staff or Extended National Staff, may be presented plaques of appreciation in recognition of outstanding service to the Society. The plaques are purchased and engraved under the direction of the Executive Management Center.

15.27. Rudolf Anderson Gavel. This is presented to the incoming National Commander at the first business session of NATCON after the election of the new national HQ. The Rudolf Anderson Gavel is sponsored by the Rudolf Anderson Squadron of Clemson University.

15.28. Scholarships. The Executive Management Center attempts each year to locate industrial sponsors of scholarships and fellowships. When scholarship funds become available, the Executive Director shall notify National HQ who will notify each squadron of the application procedures and suspense dates.

15.29. Day Cup. Presented to the outstanding squadron staff officer in the nation. The award is sponsored by the Boots Stratford Squadron of Auburn University and consists of a permanent plaque.

15.29.1. Criteria. The candidate will have demonstrated a consistently high standard of performance in all assigned duties. Further, the member will have continuously promoted the ideals and standards of the USAF, USAFA or AFROTC, and AAS.

15.29.2. Procedures. The award is for work done as a staff officer. Current duties as a commander or non-staff officer are not disqualifying. Staff positions may be those reported during the last two staff cycles. A person may be nominated only once for his or her work in one position. Chapter 16—Silver Wings (SW) Operations

Section 16A—Background

16.1. SW Description. Silver Wings is a national, co-ed, professional organization dedicated to creating proactive, knowledgeable, and effective civic leaders through community service and education about national defense. The nature of its objectives leads to the support of the mission of AAS. This honorary, professional, service organization is located at most of the campuses that support an AAS squadron. See also SWM.

16.2. Sponsorship. SW is a self-governing organization, receiving sponsorship and support from AAS, AFA, and the USAF.

16.3. Mission. The mission of SW includes:

16.3.1. Personal Development of individual members through service to the community, which enables members to develop a sense of purpose within and a responsibility to the local community.

16.3.2. Professional Development of individual members. Local chapter activities and the national organizational structure provide members with leadership opportunities and the chance to develop professional skills.

16.3.3. Civic Awareness. Exposure to Air Force issues and personnel enables members to develop a personal awareness of aerospace power and the role it plays in national defense.

16.4. Interrelation of AAS and SW. Even though SW strongly supports AAS, SW is an independent organization free to pursue any objective.

16.5. SW Organization. The organization of SW is similar to AAS. SW regions may encompass one or more AAS areas and are under the command of a rotating SW National HQ. Many of the AAS special HQs have SW counterparts. The Arnold Air Society – Silver Wings Executive Director serves in a dual purpose position.

16.6. AAS and SW Independence. AAS considers SW a separate organization. AAS imposes no national requirements on SW, unless first agreed upon by either the general assemblies or Board of Directors of both organizations. SW units have the option of including AAS representation on SW membership selection boards.

16.7. SW Advisors. SW chooses an advisor from the detachment cadre, subject to the approval of the host professor of aerospace studies. AAS does not prohibit the squadron advisor from also serving as the chapter advisor.

16.8. NATCON. Each NATCON is a joint event held with SW. As such, both organizations plan and conduct the event. See also AASMAN-1, Chapters 9 and 10.

Section 16B—Status of Chapters

16.9. Letter of Introduction. SW National HQ will assist any AAS squadron not having a collocated SW unit in starting a SW Chapter. Usually, this process begins with an introductory letter from SW National HQ.

16.10. Activation Guidance Packet. Following the introductory letter and a request from an AAS squadron, SW National HQ will send the squadron an activation guidance packet.
Simultaneously, SW National HQ will notify the appropriate SW Region President of the request so the region president may assist the squadron.

16.11. Program Implementation and Monitoring. All vice/deputy commanders are responsible for implementing and monitoring the programs specified in this chapter. However, the appropriate area chief of protocol is directly responsible for program operations. These officers are equally charged with insuring the success of this program.
Chapter 17—Information Management

17.1. Procedures. In order to implement the training function of AAS by familiarizing the membership with USAF procedures, all AAS correspondence must be completed IAW USAF directives such as AFR 4-26, AFP 4-19, and AFMAN 37-126.

17.2. Communication Channels. Except when specifically prohibited, any unit of AAS may correspond with any other unit at any command level. However, the sending unit must also send courtesy copies of the correspondence to any intermediate HQs in the chain of command. See also AASMAN-1, para 12.15.3.

17.3. Routing. Except when specifically authorized herein, no AAS unit may send any correspondence directly to the professor of aerospace studies (PAS) at a unit hosting an AAS squadron. All correspondence of any type being sent by any AAS unit to an agency or person outside the Society must first have that correspondence reviewed by the unit advisor or host PAS. The Executive Director is exempt from the provisions of this paragraph.

17.4. Franked Envelopes. No AAS unit may ever use a US government franked envelope (marked “postage and fees paid”) or government stamps.

17.5. First Class Mail. All correspondence will be sent between AAS units using first class mail or airmail, depending on the urgency of the item.

17.6. Addresses.

17.6.1. Format.

17.6.1.1. All units will use this format for organizational addresses:

IVEN C. KINCHELOE, JR. SQUADRON
ARNOLD AIR SOCIETY
AFROTC DET 220 (AETC)
PURDUE UNIVERSITY
1510 ARMORY BLDG
WEST LAFAYETTE IN 47907-1510

(UNIT; EITHER SQUADRON OR A HQ)
(DET AND MAJCOM ACRONYM)
(STREET ADDRESS)
(CITY, STATE, ZIP)

17.6.1.2. The exception to this rule is the squadron at the USAFA. See the address directory for the current address of this unit.

17.6.2. Additional Address Information. If other information added to the address element will speed delivery of any unit’s mail, the unit may add that information to the address element. Each year, the Executive Management Center issues an address index to all AAS agencies and units. All units are responsible for keeping their address information current by notifying the Executive Management Center of any changes.

17.6.3. Action Addressees. If the action office of the addressee on any correspondence is known, indicate the office symbol in the address element with an “attention of” line or acceptable facsimile.

17.7. Letterhead. All units are authorized to use any letterhead which conforms to the standards specified in AFMAN 37-126 and AASMAN-1, para 17.6. Put the AAS crest in the corner specified in AFMAN 37-126 for the DoD symbol. Units may put a university logo in the other corner.

17.8. Signature Blocks.
17.8.1. Format. All AAS signature blocks will appear in the following format:

MATTHEW E. KONVALIN, C/-Colonel, AAS
COMMANDER

17.8.2. Unit Designation. Putting the unit or agency name in the signature block is not authorized unless the paper the signature block appears on is not pre-printed letterhead (e.g. informal letters).

17.9. Acknowledgment of Communications. All AAS correspondence must be processed as expeditiously as possible. Check all unit mailboxes at least once each duty day. Arrange for AAS mail to be properly handled during any break in the academic year and on summer recess. AAS units which fail to respond to communications in a timely manner or within prescribed time limits are subject to the provisions of AASMAN-1, para 7.4.

17.10. Mail Polls. Any AAS HQ unit may conduct a mail poll. Failure to respond to a mail poll within the time limits prescribed will subject a unit to the procedures specified in AASMAN-1, para 7.4.

17.11. Orders. Any AAS unit may publish orders to govern the members of the unit and its subordinate units and personnel, provided the orders do not conflict with any AAS guidance or directives. Orders may never be sent in place of the AASSWF2.

17.12. Unsatisfactory Support. All AAS units are strongly encouraged to bring to the attention of National HQ any unsatisfactory supplies, services, or support received from any national-level HQ in the Society.

17.12.1. Procedures. A unit with a grievance of any type must submit its report to the National Commander and provide a copy to the agency against which the grievance is filed. All reports must include a recommended way to fix the problem. The National Commander will task the appropriate agency to fix the problem.

17.12.2. Response. The agency receiving a complaint must initiate corrective action for the problem and respond to the agency filing the complaint NLT 21 days after receiving the complaint. Include a full description of the corrective action taken.

17.13. Record Copies. All units must maintain record copies of all correspondence issued. Use a duplicating system that will provide a lasting record of the correspondence.

17.14. Records Maintenance System. All AAS units must use a records maintenance system complying with applicable USAF directives.

17.14.1. Maintenance. All AAS units will maintain their records in such a fashion as to provide for both protection and easy use. See also AASMAN-1, para 17.17.

17.14.2. Transfer. Upon transfer of a HQ from one unit to another, the outgoing director of information management must pack and ship all unit records to the new HQ in a manner agreed upon by both the new and old HQs.

17.14.3. File Cut-Off Date. All AAS units must establish a file cut-off date of the last day of NATCON. On this date, all records will be transferred from the active files to a location for storage.

17.14.4. Disposal. After retention in storage for not less than one year, unit records may be destroyed at the discretion of the commander. Before destruction, examine and retain any records of historic or operational value and make a summary listing of the documents destroyed. Send any items of historical interest to Executive Management Center. Keep copies of initiation records for at least four years. Note: Records stored in dead files may be kept for more than one year, should the unit desire.

17.15. AAS Forms (AASF).

17.15.1. Use.

17.15.1.1. Instructions. Details about how and when to use an AASF or AASSWF are printed in this manual.

17.15.1.2. Current Form Usage. Always use the latest edition of a prescribed form, unless the use of previous editions is specifically authorized. Should an AAS unit have none of the appropriate forms in stock and is facing a suspense date, always type the appropriate information in a memorandum and meet the suspense date. Local reproduction of AAS forms is authorized.

17.15.1.3. Copies. All AAS units must maintain a record copy of all forms sent out.

17.15.1.4. Suspense Dates. All AAS units must meet the suspense dates specified for each form.

17.15.1.5. Remittance. All forms requiring a payment must be accompanied by the proper remittance before the form will be processed. If the host institution writes checks for the AAS unit and sends checks separately, attach a memo to the form indicating such.

17.15.2. Current Forms.

17.15.2.1. Google Drive AASSWF1 – Membership Roster. See AASMAN-1, para 2.23. (OPR: EMC)

17.15.2.2. AASSWF2 – Officer Roster. See AASMAN-1, para 12.4.2 (OPR: EMC)

17.15.2.3. AASSWF3 – Proxy Vote Form. See AASMAN-1, para 7.2.4 and para 11.5.6. (OPR: EMC)

17.15.2.4. AASSWF4 – Squadron Activation / Reactivation Worksheet. See AASMAN-1 para 13.19.2. (OPR: EMC)

17.15.2.5. AASF50Q - National Test Questions and AASF50Q - National Test Answers. See AASMAN-1, Attachment 2, Section A2-6. (OPR: EMC)

17.15.2.6. AASF701 - Officer Performance Report. See AASMAN-1, Attachment 5, Section A5-6. (OPR: National HQ)

17.15.2.7. AASF724 – Comprehensive Self-Assessment Worksheet. See Attachment 5.

17.15.2.8. AASF901 - National Unit Award Nomination Report. See AASMAN-1, Chapter 16, para 15.2, and Section B. (OPR: National HQ)
17.15.2.9. AASF916 – Unit Project Summary Sheet. See AASMAN-1, Chapter 15, paras 15.2 and Section B. (OPR: National HQ)

17.15.3. Format. In the lower, left-hand corner of all permanent AAS forms, there must be a form number, date of adoption or latest revision, and a statement as to whether previous editions of the form may still be used. Forms designed for other than national use must indicate the command level for which the form is valid. Permanent squadron forms must bear the squadron letterhead. Other permanent AAS forms must indicate the issuing HQ, but may bear no other information that would make the form obsolete on transfer of the HQ to another location. AAS forms must indicate the required routing of the form. Using colored copies in a multiple copy-set form is authorized, provided the original of the form is white and the last copy of the form is the record copy for the originator’s files.

17.16. National and Area Level Forms. To ensure efficient communications between the various HQs of AAS while still allowing these HQs to have local control over the design of the forms each HQ uses, the following series of forms have been established.

17.16.1. 100-Series.

17.16.1.1. The 100-Series of forms is reserved for standardized forms used at both the area and National levels for day-to-day operations. The actual design of each form is decided at the local level, although guidance will be provided by the National IM. IAW AASMAN-1, para 17.15.3, these forms must indicate the issuing HQ, but may bear no other information which would make the form obsolete upon transfer of the HQ to another location.

17.16.1.2. These forms will be numbered on the area level as “Area Form 1XX” and on the national level as “National Form 1XX”, with the “X” characters indicating the remaining numerals in the actual 100-series designator of the form.

17.16.2. 200-Series.

17.16.2.1. The 200-Series of forms is reserved for those forms which an area or national level HQ desires to create for its own internal use, but are not included in the 100-Series. Numbering of these forms is the same as for the 100 series, with the exception of the use of the “2XX” number itself.

17.16.2.2. Each HQ that creates a 200-Series form must send a copy of the form to National HQ. If enough areas use similar 200-Series forms, that type of form will be a candidate for addition to the 100-Series.

17.16.3. 700-Series. The 700-Series of forms is reserved for those forms that are used by area and national level HQs in evaluations of and feedback to subordinate units. The design of these forms is at the discretion of the issuing HQ.

17.16.4. 900-Series. The 900-Series of forms is reserved for the national level awards nomination process. These forms include AASF 901 and 916. See also AASMAN-1, para 17.15.2 and Chapter 15.
17.17. Files Maintenance Plan. All AAS units must use a files maintenance plan. See also AASMAN-1, para 17.14. The unit must adhere to whatever version of the files maintenance plan it adopts. See AFMAN 37-126 and AASMAN-1, para 17.14.4, for guidance on destruction of filed materials.

17.18. Personnel Files. Each unit, at its discretion, may keep personnel files. See also AASMAN-1, para 17.14. If the unit keeps such files they must be secured with a lock and updated at least once per term. The files must contain Privacy Act Statements and the unit must comply with the Privacy Act. Keep files on departed members for one academic year. See AFMAN 37-126 for disposal of personnel files.

17.19. Continuity Notebooks. Each unit should keep a continuity notebook for each staff position. See AASMAN-1 Attachment 6.

Section 2. The NATCON general assembly may amend this Constitution with a two-thirds vote of all the active squadrons of the Society.
A2.1. Usage. This suggested initiation procedure may be used at all squadron initiations. Squadrons may use other or additional procedures, provided the ceremony in no way reflects poorly on the AAS, AFROTC, USAFA, or USAF. Initiation of active members may only occur at the squadron level. Units are encouraged to invite dignitaries to attend initiation ceremonies. See the AASMAN-1 for reporting procedures.

A2.2. Equipment Details. Use the US flag, university flag, AAS squadron guidon and, if practical, one candle for each individual mentioned in the section on the history of the Air Force. Cadet 2d Lt rank pins and fourragères can be ordered from EMC through the National Website by a current active member.

A2.3. Execution.

A2.3.1. The Oath. When the candidates are in place, either the unit’s ranking officer or a selected presiding officer for the ceremony will administer the oath to the candidates. NOTE: This oath is the only portion of this suggested ceremony that must be used at all initiations. The oath reads with pauses noted by each “/.”

“I, (name of candidate), having been selected a candidate for the Arnold Air Society, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Arnold Air Society, that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same, that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation of purpose of evasion, and that I will faithfully serve in the position I am about to enter, so help me God.”

A2.3.2. Guest Speaker. If there is a guest speaker scheduled, allow the candidates to be seated in the front of the room. Have other attendees sit where appropriate and facilities allow. At this time, introduce the guest speaker. With no guest speaker, candidates should stand at the appropriate spot for the next phase of the ceremony.

A2.3.3. Candidate Recognition & AAS Motto. Following the address by the guest speaker, have the candidates stand at the appropriate spot for the next phase of the ceremony. As a designated member of the squadron reads each candidate’s name, the candidates will step forward. A designated member will then read the motto of the Society and explain the motto to the attendees.

A2.3.3.1. The motto is: “The warrior who cultivates his mind, polishes his arms.”

A2.3.3.2. The explanation is: “We of (either AFROTC or the USAFA) accept this motto as a challenge and a candidate that, in the future, we shall, by diligent study and unrestrained effort, instruct and train ourselves so that we shall have the qualities and attributes essential to our progressive and continued development throughout our lifetimes as officers in the United States Air Force.”

A2.3.4. AAS Colors. A designated member of the squadron will explain our interpretation of the Arnold Air colors:

A2.3.4.1. “Cultures have always used colors to represent causes they wish to support. Such colors are the red of the Red Cross, the black robes of the minister, the white uniforms of the nurse, colors representing foreign nobility, regiments, armies, secret societies, and, above all, our own United States. If we know the significance of the colors of the Arnold Air Society, they should help us remember the spirit of our organization whenever we see them.”

A2.3.4.2. “The blue background stands for the sky in which we fly -- that blue horizon which we try to reach by developing better and more efficient engines and airplanes and better trained men and women, by using research and experience to attain new goals, make new records, discover new frontiers.”

A2.3.4.3. “The red of the star represents those men and women whose blood has been given to achieve that which we have achieved today -- and it also represents the blood which will have to be spent in the future.”

A2.3.4.4. “The gold wings stand for the wings that hold us aloft, the wings we bear and wear, the symbol of our mission and our purpose.”

A2.3.4.5. “The white in the star represents the purity of our intent, our loyalty to comrades, our determination to keep our wings and ourselves so strong there will never be doubt as to the preservation of our nation for which we wear these symbols.”

A2.3.5. AAS Heritage & Candidate Welcome. If possible, dim the lights in the room. As each name is read, have an active member light a candle. When the “unknown airmen” are mentioned, light the remaining candles. A designated member will read the final portion of the initiation:

A2.3.5.1. “The history of the Air Force is a great history. We have progressed from the Wright Brothers’ 40-mile-per-hour airplane to the speedy jet-propelled aircraft of today. During this period of time, several significant events, linked inseparably with many men and women, have produced a profound effect on the growth and development of the United States Air Force.

A2.3.5.2. “The first power-driven, heavier-than-air craft of the Wright Brothers was improved upon continuously in the years before World War I. The use of the airplane as a combat weapon was envisioned quite early by such men as Glenn Curtiss, who first saw the practical use of the plane as a bombardment weapon.”

A2.3.5.3. “The performance in combat of such pilots as Edward Rickenbacker during World War I added weight to the theory of air combat. The conception of an offensive air force whose primary purpose was to strike at the enemy’s armies, supply depots, and war industry is due, in large measure, to General Billy Mitchell. He proved his theories by sinking a German U-boat in 16 minutes and the giant German battleship Ostfriesland with seven Martin bombers in seven minutes.”

A2.3.5.4. “The final acceptance of strategic bombing as a basic Air Force combat function, although fought for by such men as Generals Billy Mitchell and H.H. Arnold in the inter-war years, was not achieved until World War II.”

A2.3.5.5. “Soon, after the close of the War, the Air Force began to acquire jet aircraft which greatly increased its strength and striking capability. Captain Charles Yeager, who became the first to fly an aircraft faster than the speed of sound in 1947, and Captain James Jabara, who became the world’s first jet ace during the Korean conflict in 1951, were pioneers in this field.”

A2.3.5.6. “The Air Force has embarked upon a new age -- the Aerospace Age. The dedication of such pioneers as Colonel Robert White, who flew the X-15 to record speeds, and Colonel John Glenn, the first US astronaut to orbit the earth, serve as examples for us, the aerospace team of tomorrow.”

A2.3.5.7. “Let us also pay tribute to astronauts Virgil Grissom, Edward White, and Roger Chaffee, and the members of the crew of the space shuttle Challenger who gave their lives in the quest for greater knowledge of space.”

A2.3.5.8. “Let us also remember all those unknown airmen, unnamed, but not forgotten, who have done so much that we may progress so far.”

A2.3.5.9. “New members of the Arnold Air Society, help us join this group of aerospace-minded men so that we may contribute in the future as much as they have contributed in the past. Thank you for choosing to join us for today’s ceremony.”

A2.3.6. After-Ceremony Festivities. Include an announcement for any celebratory activity, such as family dinner, light refreshments, or reception.

Attachment 4—Roundtable Evaluations

Section A4.1—Outline

A4.1. Introduction. The following pages are designed to give you an outline of how this idea came about, what it is, and how to execute one successfully. Every command level can adopt this style of discussion. You are encouraged to make notes as you read through this attachment and come up with ideas that you feel can improve the system for your use. With the prior approval of the National Vice Commander, please feel free to implement your ideas on a test basis. Should your concepts be successful, the Society can make changes to this attachment. The only way this system will work is if it changes with the times -- that responsibility lies in the creativity of each member.

A4.2. History of the Roundtable. Prior to roundtable discussions, AAS had been inspecting squadrons through a one-on-one interview during which the area staff “picked the brains” and reviewed the work of each squadron staff officer. Next, the area HQ staff assigned a number value to each squadron staff position in each of several different categories and duties. That number was then recorded on a form and sent back to the squadron member. The only time written feedback was required was if an officer received a below or above standard rating. This left many people with a “meets standards” attitude. The stress felt at the time of an inspection caused an incorrect picture to be painted of the squadron member and the squadron as a whole. Many squadron officers would return from an ARCON feeling unmotivated. They may have been told what was wrong and told how to fix it. In 1992, after experiencing and hearing of this process and the complaints that came with it, area staffs began to question how to change the whole inspection system. Many area HQs came up with slight variations that included written feedback for all aspects of the inspection. This helped in communication, but squadrons were still being told what to do. These different ideas evolved into the Roundtable Evaluation. This was an effort to bring Total Quality Management (TQM) into AAS. This system provided an opportunity, during ARCONs, for all squadron officers of the same position to sit down and discuss various aspects of their respective jobs. The process is divided into three parts: discussion, self-inspection, and personal feedback. Each of these are explained in detail later in this attachment. This system of evaluation was first initiated at the Area VII ARCON in 1992. The following information captures what was done at that ARCON, as well as improvements added since then thanks to input from Society members around the country.

A4.3. Goals of the Roundtable. There are three main reasons why the Society conducts evaluations: to ensure the maintenance of standards in squadron operations, to offer feedback for improvement in problem areas, and to facilitate the distribution of annual awards to officers and squadrons. The Roundtable Evaluation is a system that implies self-help, as opposed to an inspection system that imposes help from top down. The four goals listed below are the backbone of the system. They should always be kept in mind when performing a discussion of deciding on improvements to be made. The goals of the Roundtable are:
A4.3.1. To model the Air Force theme of TQM.

A4.3.2. To give each squadron officer a chance to talk to other officers in the area and share ideas and suggestions.

A4.3.3. To make evaluations more productive than the former inspection method by letting everyone hear what other squadrons do in the same functional area, thereby allowing each individual to rate him or herself based on their peers’ performance.

A4.3.4. To allow all the squadron officers to participate in the decisions about what the area should emphasize and what should be changed.

Section A4-2—Execution of the System

A4.4. Preparation for the Roundtable. Preparation is the key to the success of the officers’ discussion. Each area officer will facilitate his or her own discussion. Each officer must know exactly what is going to take place to the minute during the entire time allotted. The area/CV is responsible not only for his or her own discussion, but for ensuring the staff is properly prepared for their discussions. The following is a suggested format for preparing for the discussion. We will use the deputy commander position as an example.

A4.4.1. ARCON Scheduling. ARCON scheduling of Roundtables should be arranged as early as possible. The discussions should be held at a time when maximum attendance can be assured. In the past, the evening of arrival has caused many problems. Saturday afternoon works best.

A4.4.2. Area Staff’s Preparation. First, prepare the self-evaluation form that each officer is going to use. The suggested form to use is the AASF724: Comprehensive Self-Assessment Worksheet. See AASMAN-1 para 17.15. The squadron officers will rate themselves during the discussion based on what they hear from their peers. Based on responses on this form, each officer divides the amount of time they feel necessary to spend on each topic during the discussion. For example, the area/CV may find it necessary to spend more time on “AFA Relations” than “Squadron of the Month.” The important thing is that all the time is budgeted. Each officer will need to thoroughly know every squadron’s strong and weak points. It will also be very beneficial for each area officer to prepare a talking paper as a personal reference during the entire discussion. For example, a part of the talking paper for the area/CV may look like that shown below.

CD DISCUSSION
Area CV Talking Paper

AFROTC Affairs 20 Minutes

Introduce the topic -- AFROTC Affairs is our opportunity to speak directly to HQ AFROTC with suggestions for improvement. Also, explain the process their ideas go through to get to the HQ.
Ask a question -- James Lee Squadron has good suggestions; get them to speak because their method for gathering ideas works. Watch for Nickelodeon and Carl Johnson Squadrons because both seem to lack motivation and ideas.

Concluding remarks -- Reemphasize the importance of the committee and the squadron’s inputs. Let them know they make a difference.

Each topic to be discussed would have a section similar to this. With a guide like the one above in front of the area officer, all points would be prepared for. The information to create such a guide should be taken from interim reports, phone and E-mail correspondence, and past files. As you can probably imagine, each officer must know the squadron officers quite well. This is essential for a successful discussion. With a limited time, the area officer must guide the discussion perfectly so no time is wasted. Every area officer must prepare himself or herself for their discussion. It will be a direct reflection on how successful each discussion is.

A4.4.3. Squadron Notification. Squadrons will need to be made aware of what will be occurring at ARCON for their evaluation. This is the responsibility of the area/CV and should occur NLT 7 days prior to ARCON. If certain squadron officers can not attend ARCON, they should have a representative attend the Roundtable. Since this representative may be another squadron officer, the discussion schedule should be staggered with only half the discussions occurring during a given time period.

Section A4-3—Procedure For The Roundtable

A4.5. You may want to kick things off with an introduction of yourself and what will be occurring at the discussion. Keep the mood light and enjoyable. Next, pass out the self evaluation checklist. As the group discusses each topic, each squadron officer will rate his or her own performance in relation to what others have done. This lets the individual put their own actual standing into perspective and gives them the satisfaction of knowing that they have found any problems which may exist and developed a solution on their own or as a group. This leads to continued motivation after ARCON.

A4.5.1. Supplemental Questionnaire. In addition to the checklist, you may want to add a supplemental questionnaire. This can give each area staff member a chance to ask any important questions which need a written explanation or list rather than a numerical rating. The questionnaire can also be used for feedback on the Roundtable format which will let the area staff member know how he or she performed. It also can add suggestions for improvement to the Roundtable system for later years.

A4.5.2. Recording of Discussion. The discussion should be recorded in some way, either via minutes or tape recording. This will be needed when you go to do your feedback and ratings for awards.

A4.5.3. Length. One hour and 30 minutes seems to be an ideal length for each discussion. Many people suggested more time; however, scheduling at ARCONs is sometimes difficult.
A4.5.4. Conclusion. At the conclusion of the discussion, the area officer should collect the SECs and explain what type of feedback the squadrons will be receiving. This point is explained in detail in the next section.

A4.5.5. Miscellaneous. Please realize that the procedure your staff uses is up to you. For this reason, very few examples are being given in this text. Realize that the forms used are also only suggestions. A certain amount of success was experienced with this procedures; so, it is a good starting point. The area/CV needs to be creative. Please let National HQ know of anything you do that may improve this process. This way, more areas can use the idea next year and this attachment can be updated.

Section A4-4—Work After The Roundtable

A4.6. The feedback everybody gets from the Roundtable will be extremely valuable. From the minutes and SECs, each area staff member should have a good idea of how each squadron stands. This is needed to rate officers and units in a way that will later facilitate the distribution of awards. However, the ratings should also be based on what the interim reports look like before the discussion and afterwards. Also, the rating is not the main thing to be taken from the evaluation. Rather, it should be the lessons learned and this should all be summarized in the area staff’s feedback to each squadron officer.

A4.6.1. Feedback. At a bare minimum, feedback should include a copy of the SEC and a recap of the discussion points. It is the responsibility of the area staff to ensure quality and personal feedback to each squadron officer. The amount any type of feedback which each officer offers is to be decided by the area/CV and area/CC. In the past, written feedback was given to each squadron officer addressing each topic from the discussion. The area officer made reference to what he or she saw at the discussion and what was occurring in the reports of a given squadron. This works well because it gives everybody individual attention. It may be a good idea to make your post-ARCON feedback to the squadrons a semester summary. It is this personal feedback which will result in a tremendous improvement the following semester. For this reason, be sure and stress continuity of the Roundtable if officers will be changing. Everyone’s efforts should not go to waste just because a new rotation of officers arrives.

A4.6.2. After-Action Report. The final part of work following the Roundtable is the area/CV’s After-Action Report. It should document all steps done by the area HQ and include suggestions for improvement. This should be submitted to National HQ NLT 30 days after ARCON. The National Vice Commander will then use those suggestions to update this attachment.

Section A4-5—Quick Reference Outline and Timeline

A4.7. Thirty Days Prior to ARCON. Area/CV should understand the Roundtable Evaluation system and brief the area staff on what will occur. Also, the area/CV ensures ARCON HQ is made aware of the Roundtable schedule and that separate meeting rooms are scheduled for each officer’s discussion.
A4.8. Twenty Days Prior to ARCON. Area/CV informs the National Vice Commander of the area’s Roundtable plans.

A4.9. Ten Days Prior to ARCON. Area staff has SECs and talking papers done.

A4.10. Seven Days Prior to ARCON. Area/CVs inform squadron of what is on the SEC and the area staff completes preparation for discussions.

A4.11. Seven Days After ARCON. Minutes from discussions are transcribed and the area staff begins writing feedback to squadrons.

A4.12. Twenty-eight Days After ARCON. Feedback to squadrons (including courtesy copies required in AASMAN-1, para 12.12.3) mailed.

A4.13. Sixty Days After ARCON. Area/CV sends Roundtable After-Action Report to National Vice Commander.
Attachment 5—Continuity Notebook Guidelines

Section A5-1—Outline

A5.1. Introduction. The guidelines presented below for continuity notebooks should be used to further the mission of Arnold Air Society by providing the information necessary for incoming staff members to study the accomplishments and lessons learned from the previous year. Outgoing staff members should strive to exercise good stewardship and give their incoming counterpart all the benefits of their recent experiences.

A5.2. Explanation of Office. For each staff position pertinent sections of AASMAN-1 should be photocopied with sections relating to the office highlighted or underlined.

A5.3. Expectations of Officer. Using AASMAN-1 and personal experience the outgoing officer should compile a list of specific duties, suspense items, and calendar events encountered while in office. Care should be given to ensure thorough explanation of additional items assigned that may not be referenced in AASMAN-1.

A5.4. Goals and Term Accomplishments. A list of goals from the previous year should be compiled and reviewed. Explain to what extent each goal was achieved. Focus on milestones and challenges to mission accomplishment. List any work in progress that the incoming staff might need to complete, provide insight and suggestions on how to continue the mission from its present status to completion. If goals were changed during the past term explain why these changes occurred.

A5.5. Task Management. List all suggestions that will aid incoming officers in efforts to improve efficiency. Add pertinent insights that will make activities, tasks, and programs more successful during the following term of office. Provide examples of past reports, activities, programs, and other tasks.

A5.6. Contacts. Utilize the AAS/SW Unit Address Roster. Provide an updated roster of USAF, AFA, University, AAS, SW, or community members who assisted in various aspects of office duty during the previous term. Include all addresses, phone numbers and e-mail if possible.

A5.7. Correspondence. Provide copies of correspondence sent or received, including electronic mail communications.

A5.8. Optional Sections. Additional items can be covered in optional sections. Such information should be current, relevant to each office, detailed, and organized to improve the usefulness of the overall notebook.
Attachment 6—AAS Candidate Handout Concerning Hazing

A6.1. Introduction. The guidelines presented below are to be reproduced and a copy provided to each candidate at the start of their first training event.

A6.2. AAS Hazing Policy. You, as a candidate for membership in the Arnold Air Society (AAS) have the right not to be physically or mentally hazed at any time or in any way, as defined by the official USAF policy on hazing.

A6.3. Definition of Hazing. Hazing, as defined by the Department of Defense, and the USAF, is activity that exposes persons to cruel, abusive, humiliating, oppressive, demeaning, or harmful experiences. It can be physical, verbal, or psychological in nature. Examples of hazing include, but are not limited to, abusive tricks, threatening or offering violence or bodily harm to another, striking, branding, tattooing, shaving, greasing, painting, pinning, tackling on, blood wings, or forcing the consumption of food, alcohol, drugs, or any other substances. Any “rites of passage” should be strictly scrutinized by the chain of command to ensure that hazing does not occur.

A6.4. Actual or Implied Consent to Hazing. An actual or implied consent to acts of hazing does not eliminate the culpability of the perpetrator. This means that even if the candidates devise the program, the Cadet Training Officer (CTO) will be responsible for any event that is judged to be hazing by higher headquarters, and any other members involved will also be held accountable.

A6.5. Initial Report of Hazing. If suspicion or accusation of hazing arises, an initial report will be given to the Area Director of Training. The accusing candidate may remain anonymous. The Area DT and the Area Commander will then be responsible for investigating the incident and involving the appropriate cadre in its resolution. The investigators will submit a detailed post-investigation report to the National DT (Pending approval from the Area Commander).

A6.6. Post-Investigation Report. The post-investigation report will include the name of the squadron, detachment, and university involved. A detailed description of the incident will be included. Any resolution of the incident that has been accomplished by the report date will also be included. Persons involved in the resolution: cadre, AAS members, and candidates will have their names and phone numbers listed at the end of the report for further investigation into the incident. Again the initiator of the investigation may remain anonymous.

A6.7. Determination of Hazing. The final determination of whether hazing has occurred or not, will be determined by the Area and National DTs, and upon request will be re-evaluated by the AAS National Commander.

A6.8. Infraction of Hazing. If an actual infraction of hazing has occurred, the cadets involved as perpetrators will be removed from their positions immediately and be required to fulfill service hours as directed by the Area DT. If the infraction was severe, resulting in the injury of the individual, or violating university or state law, the perpetrator(s) will be removed from membership in the Arnold Air Society.

A6.9. Air Force Training Guide. All candidate training environments will adhere to the HC Training Manual (ATM) T-700, concerning the incorporation of events of challenge, creativity, and training.

Attachment 7—AFROTC Cadre

A7.1. Introduction. The information presented below is to assist in the general knowledge of AFROTC cadre. It is not all inclusive, and reading the entire contents of AASMAN-1 is highly encouraged.

A7.2. Headquarters Air Force ROTC. The HQ AFROTC Director of Operations is the office of primary responsibility for the activities of AAS and SW. The Director of Operations is the CSCOP and reserves the right to exercise directive control over AAS and SW, through the national and area advisors, in the event of conflicts of interest with USAF and AFROTC directives. The CSCOP will:

Attachment 8—Arnold Air Society Vision Statement

The following vision statement was passed by the AAS National Conclave General Assembly in April, 2012. The document apporved by the Conclave Assembly is included below in full.

“Develop proactive leaders, Remain loyal to the ideals of the Arnold Air Society; Foster a synergistic society through selfless service of our dedicated members.”

Over the last 65 years, the Arnold Air Society has developed a reputation of dedicated and selfless individuals. However, in recent years we have begun to face a national problem where the decline of motivated and dedicated members in our society is having a national effect on recruiting and retention. The decline of squadron attendance at conclaves coupled with the haphazard approach many squadrons take to the crucial elements of our society, such as the JNP, service, and professional development, leads higher headquarters to question where the future of our society is headed.

We must stress upon the members of this organization the foundation laid by our predecessors who established the cornerstones of the Air Force and instilled selfless service. The continuation of our society lies in their ability and drive to contribute to Arnold Air Society and its affiliated organizations.

The organization embraces a cadet run and cadet organized society that encourages creativity for members to reach their full, innovative potential. Cadets with the mentality for selfless service are the members who will further our mission, vision, and goals. Continuity, vertical and horizontal communication, and the recognition of its members will further a sense of camaraderie and dedication that permeates each level of the organization. To achieve this, ambition from every member of the society is imperative. We challenge you to rise beyond the current precedent and standards and leave a legacy in the society. You have the power to write the future!
Arnold Air Society Mission

To create outstanding Air Force Officer Candidates through the implementation of additional training while working as a society to further the purpose, traditions, and concepts of the United States Air Force.

We will establish greater contact and integration with Silver Wings by fully supporting the goals of their organization. Dedicating the resources of Arnold Air Society to achieve the goals of Silver Wings will expand the influence that each society maintains within their communities, and will enable greater quality and quantity of activities.

We will establish greater contact and integration with the Air Force Association. At least half of the squadrons around the nation will have intimate relations with their respective AFA chapter. This not only benefits the current Air Force, but also aids us as AFA members by expanding our base of operations.

We will create positions within each squadron in the nation whose sole responsibility is to act as a liaison with the AFA and Silver Wings.

We will work to fully integrate technology into our day-to-day operations. Our website is the key to our future success. We are striving for a paperless Society: a Society in which all dues and forms are submitted via the Internet, a Society where the detailed history of members and events is a click away, and a Society where up-to-the-minute information is not an exception, but an expectation.

We will further aid in the development of Air Force officers by knowing the boundaries that exist in our involvement with Air Force training and use those boundaries to our advantage. We will not interfere with their Air Force training; but instead use it towards furthering development as future officers.

We will focus more on professional development and creating effective relationships through our projects. Service learning will become more of an emphasis as a Society. Service purely for project hours is not effective in benefiting our development as future officers. We must learn from the services that we offer—learn about ourselves, our fellow members, and our surrounding communities.

We will become better leaders by analyzing our own ethics and morals that affect our decisions as leaders. Through a greater understanding of ourselves as citizens and cadets, we can become more effective leaders.

We will contribute more to publications that benefit both the public and the Society. All squadrons will aid in Air Force, local, and Society publications. We will learn about what each other is doing, and the public will benefit more by learning what we are doing.

We will train future members of the Society with an intrinsic, mandatory respect. We will foster individual development as citizens, cadets, and leaders. Our trainees will become the future’s trainers, and it is our responsibility to the future of the Society to ensure the protection of that intrinsic respect.
We will use the National and Area Conclaves to their fullest potential. We will take advantage of the only opportunity for cadets from all AFROTC detachments and the USAFA to unite for a common purpose. We will develop ourselves through a learning and enjoyable environment, and we will take what we learn back to our detachments and educate others through our actions.

OUR VISION

TO INTEGRATE FULLY WITH OUR AFFILIATED ORGANIZATIONS, FOCUS EQUALLY ON PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT AND SERVICE, AND TO USE CURRENT AND FUTURE TECHNOLOGY TO ITS MAXIMUM POTENTIAL.
